

Greek Tycoon Denies Charge In Wife's Death

Coroner Claims
Woman Was Struck
In Revival Attempt

ATHENS (AP) — Greek shipping tycoon Stavros Niarchos today disputed a prosecutor's accusation that he fatally injured his wife last May 4.

"There is, alas, only one sole and sad truth," Niarchos said by radio-telephone from his yacht Creole, off Villefrance-sur-Mer on the French Riviera. "All the witnesses agree."

He apparently was referring to a coroner's report that he struck his wife in an effort to revive her.

The magnum's third wife, Eugenia, died in the couple's villa on their private island in the Aegean Sea. A coroner's report said she died of an overdose of barbiturates but noted there were bruises on her head, throat and chest.

The coroner said the bruises were the results of "old-fashioned attempts by her husband to revive her after he found her in a coma."

Niarchos said he was cruising on his yacht "trying to get some rest with my children after this irreparable tragedy that has struck us."

"There is absolutely no new element in this case," said Niarchos' attorney, Rene de Chambrun of Paris. "I do not understand this new action of the prosecutor who seems to have been trying to hound Mr. Niarchos since the beginning of the case."

Prosecutor Constantine Fafoutis proposed Friday that the Greek penal council—the equivalent of an American grand jury—meet "at the earliest possible date" to determine whether Niarchos should stand trial in the death of his wife. If the shipowner is convicted of the charge, he could receive a maximum sentence of 10 years in prison.

Normally the penal council would either accept or amend a prosecutor's proposal, but a high court official said today there have been cases of penal councils dropping charges.

Most Greeks were unaware of the latest developments in the case because word of them was banned from local newspapers by the prosecutor in order not to hinder a magistrate's investigation.

Niarchos, one of the "Golden Greeks" of the shipping industry and an archrival of Aristotle Onassis, had been prohibited from leaving the country after the autopsy on his wife. But the ban was lifted in July and he left for London on business.

Niarchos' nephew and family spokesman, Constantine Dracopoulos, said after Eugenia's death that she had become upset because of a telephone call the tycoon made to his fourth wife, the former Charlotte Ford, from whom he was divorced.

The purpose of the call, Dracopoulos said, was to ask Charlotte to send their daughter to Greece for the summer. Mrs. Niarchos misunderstood the intent of the call, the spokesman said, and went to her bedroom where she took barbiturates.

Mrs. Niarchos had granted her husband a Mexican divorce in 1965, and he married Charlotte, then 24, a daughter of American automobile manufacturer Henry Ford II. The marriage to Charlotte ended with a Mexican divorce after one year, however, and Niarchos went back to his island of Spetsopoula to live with Eugenia.

Attacks in Cambodia

Free Rein for Bombers

SAIGON (AP) — President Nixon has placed no geographical restrictions on U.S. Air Force strikes inside Cambodia against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops and supplies, informed sources said today.

The sources said that although some historical shrines such as the Angkor temple ruins northwest of Phnom Penh may be off limits to U.S. bombers, there are no geographical limitations if military officials believe enemy buildups might pose a threat to allied forces in South Vietnam.

This was the first time such a disclosure had been made, but the sources said it did not represent any change in policy.

The disclosure came in response to queries whether American planes had supported

President Prepares For Busy 2 Weeks

Agnew Due for Visit Today
Before Starting Asian Trip

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon settled into the Western White House today for a two-week stay and prepared to see his vice president off on an Asian trip.

As the first order of business on his return from making a border agreement with Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz, Nixon called in Vice President Spiro T. Agnew for a conference.

Nixon sent him on the mission to get a report on Southeast Asia, where the President launched his Nixon Doctrine a year ago, proposing more Asian self-help.

Aides said the President plans a busy schedule during his stay in California. He has brought along a number of key White House advisers, including Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, both of whom expect to remain for the two weeks.

Meetings with the Cabinet, National Security Council and economic advisers are on the agenda.

In addition, Nixon will welcome another group of editors and broadcasters Monday for the third in a series of foreign policy briefings for news executives. Some 50 Western editors have been invited from Hawaii, Alaska, Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, New Mexico, Montana and Wyoming.

Earlier briefings were held at New Orleans for Southern news executives and Los Angeles for national media representatives. Nixon himself added one special event to the calendar by inviting Diaz Ordaz to be guest of honor at a presidential state dinner Sept. 3 in connection with the celebration of San Diego's 200th anniversary.

At a farewell luncheon he gave for Diaz Ordaz in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, Friday, Nixon had declared, "I hope that our visit here will bring many others from America and other lands to come to this wonderful nation," and Diaz Ordaz thanked him "for a splendid commercial."

Cambodian forces during the heavy fighting Thursday and Friday within six to nine miles of Phnom Penh.

Not Forbidden
One source said no American warplanes had supported the battle but added the comment that they would not be forbidden if military officials thought that a potential threat was posed to allied forces in Vietnam.

Informants said most American air strikes in Cambodia are centered east of the Mekong River in the northeastern part of the country against North Vietnamese supply routes running southward from Laos.

Meanwhile, Associated Press correspondent T. Jeff Williams reported from Phnom Penh that Cambodian forces had begun clearing operations northeast of the capital. Reports from Phnom Penh said three Viet Cong battalions — perhaps up to 1,000 troops or more — apparently had slipped away.

Maj. Am Rong, the Cambodian military spokesman, said several air strikes were carried out against suspected Viet Cong base areas near Prek Tameak, nine miles northeast of Phnom Penh. He did not specify whose airplanes conducted the latest strikes.

No Boundaries
"There are no boundaries for American bombers in Cambodia," said one source. "If we felt interdiction of enemy forces would secure our positions in the event enemy forces became a potential threat to Vietnam, we would hit where we had to."

"Whenever possible, Cambodian and South Vietnamese planes are hitting as many targets as they can reach and handle. When they need help, the U.S. Air Force goes."

The latest disclosure confirmed the American policy of providing direct air support to Cambodian ground forces, although the U.S. Command prefers to describe the raids as "interdiction" missions primarily aimed at cutting off North Vietnamese troops and supplies that threaten allied forces in South Vietnam.

Smaller Groups
Sources said the North Vietnamese are infiltrating from the North through Laos and Cambodia in smaller groups to avoid bombing raids.

The enemy "is moving farther away from the interdiction in Laos and Cambodia," said one source. "He'll go as far west into Laos and Cambodia as he has to. He is using more routes, including waterways. U.S. bombers are hitting the waterways he moves on."

Meanwhile, ground action continued in a lull in South Vietnam with only small clashes reported.

South Vietnamese headquarters in Saigon announced the closeout of a 10-day operation inside Cambodia and claimed 47 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers killed and 41 rifles captured. South Vietnamese losses were reported as 15 killed and 78 wounded.

State Told to Run Technical System

BY TIM WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Total state funding and operation of Wisconsin's vocational-technical system has been proposed by the State Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education.

In a major policy statement, the state board called for consideration and backing by the Coordinating Council for Higher Education of a plan to take the vocational system off of local property tax rolls and place it in the general state budget.

Price tag for the first two years of operation of the expanded system was placed at $109.1 million, up from the $42.7 million being spent on vocational education through the state system this biennium.

The action came as the vocational board sent to the CCHE two alternative budgets, and urged that the Coordinating Council back the higher cost proposal, which includes total state funding.

The second budget, based on continued operation of the system with local financial involvement up to two mills on the local property tax base, was pegged at $51.6 million, an $8.9 million increase over current spending levels.

Political Support
There is considerable political support for the idea of turning the vocational school system over to state funding and greater state operational control.

A bill backing that switch gained considerable support in the 1969 Legislature, after local school districts started moving toward full operations and taxing power under the vocational districting act passed in 1965.

That law ordered all areas of the state into such a district by 1970, and allowed local vocational schools to tax up to the two mill limit.

The full tax impact struck home in some districts during the last session, sparking the move to state controls.

The move, backed by powerful Vocational Board President Joseph Noll of Kenosha, also is seen as a step toward heading off the drive toward the Kellett education task force's proposal for a community college system in Wisconsin through a merger of at least a sizable portion of the two-year college centers with area vocational schools, making them joint technical-liberal arts operations.

Strongly Opposed
The current state vocational board strongly opposes that suggestion, which could gain some support if linked to the full state financing plan in the Legislature.

Noll's plan calls for a phasing of the switch to state controls, and emphasizes continued local involvement in the operation of the vocational-technical district schools.

"Because of the problems... it is strongly recommended that the vocational-technical system become a state operated and financed parallel system to the University of Wisconsin and the state universities," said Noll.

"It is absolutely mandatory that some local autonomy be retained and it is strongly suggested that the local boards operate much in the fashion that they do now with the proviso that their budgets must be approved by the state board, the CCHE, the governor and the Legislature," he explained.

All program suggestions would be started at the local level and would be approved by the CCHE and the state board as they are now, Noll added.

Legislation changing the system to a 45-week, trimester system should be backed, allowing students to complete a traditional two-year associate degree program in 16 months, rather than the 21 months of schooling now needed, he suggested.

The changeover period would be one of complex problems, said Noll, calling for the two-year phasing of the program. During the 1971-73 biennium the state would bear 100 per cent of the operating costs of the vocational, technical programs and local boards would tax for capital costs, part-time education, recreational programming and similar projects.

That tax load would be limited. Turn to Page 3, Col. 1

Negro's Burial

Died for Nothing?

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (AP)

The mother of a black soldier killed in Vietnam says she is determined to have him buried in a plot given to her in an all-white cemetery by a 72-year-old white woman.

Mary Campbell said the military funeral for her son, Spec. 4 Pondexter E. Williams, will be held Sunday as scheduled. The body then will be returned to the mortuary and held—forever if necessary—until Hillcrest Memorial Gardens allows his interment, Mrs. Campbell said.

"The boy gave his all," Mrs. John Diehl said Friday in explaining why she wants the black soldier to be buried next to her grandson in the family plot. "I don't think he should be discriminated against."

James Livesay, manager of the cemetery, earlier turned down Mrs. Campbell's request for an advertised free plot for servicemen, saying contracts with plot owners allowed only whites to be buried there. He said Friday he would not allow the burial of a Negro anywhere in the 42-acre cemetery without a court order.

Court Order?
"If it takes a court order there will be a court order," Mrs. Campbell said tearfully. "They just don't want a black man in their cemetery. There's nothing he can do to them dead; I don't understand why they won't bury him. "I feel that he being black and can't be buried in Hillcrest, then he didn't have any business going to the war," she said.

"He died for nothing. His fight was in vain."

Mrs. Campbell had said Thursday she would permit burial in the cemetery customarily used by blacks. Mrs. Diehl said, "Our cemetery is a pretty cemetery. The black cemetery is nothing."

After Mrs. Diehl gave the space in her family plot Friday, Mrs. Campbell said, "I think that's very nice. I am very touched by it. All the white people who live in this town aren't as bad as some."

Missiles Being Moved

More Egyptian Violations Of Truce Claimed by Israel

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel claims it has new "irrefutable" evidence that Egypt is "continuing grave violations" of the Middle East cease-fire by moving more SAM antiaircraft missiles closer to the Suez Canal.

The complaint, the fourth since the cease-fire went into effect at midnight Aug. 7, was based on material gathered Thursday, Israel said.

The Israeli military command said the evidence indicates "the construction of missile batteries and other preparational work still in progress" within 20 miles of the canal. The terms of the truce bar new military deployment within 30 miles of the waterway.

Egypt Silent
There was no Egyptian comment on the charges. Egypt has refused to acknowledge any of Israel's charges of cease-fire violations.

In Washington, the State Department said no formal protest had been received from Egypt concerning American surveillance of the cease-fire by U2 spy planes and satellites.

A spokesman dismissed a charge by Egypt's semiofficial newspaper Al-Ahram that the flights are a "pretext for espionage" and said the surveillance will continue from the Israeli side of the cease-fire line.

The State Department also said there is reason for hope that indirect peace talks mediated by U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring will begin soon, perhaps by next week. McCloskey indicated that Jarring might have word by early in the week on the site or diplomatic level of the talks.

Next Stage
Indirect talks are the next stage of the Middle East peace plan proposed by the United States and accepted by Israel, Egypt and Jordan.

In New York, Israel's chief U.N. delegate, Yosef Tekoa, met with Jarring and said when asked if the negotiations would start by next week: "It's difficult for me to say."

The semiofficial Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram says Egypt has instructed its chief U.N. delegate, Mohamed Hassan Elzayat, to press for New York as the site for the peace talks. Israel has told Jarring it would prefer that the talks be held on Cyprus, but a spokesman said the desire was not "an absolute condition."

Reports from the Lebanese capital of Beirut and the Jordanian capital of Amman indicated that relations between Egypt and Iraq were continuing to worsen. Iraq has denounced Egyptian acceptance of the U.S. peace initiative.

Informants in Amman said all Egyptian officers stationed at the Arab Unified Command in the Jordanian capital have been ordered to return home, apparently to avoid friction with Iraqis at the same command.

Rapid-Fire M16s Set for Guardsmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lightweight automatic M16 rifles are being issued to National Guard troops who will have the rapid-fire weapons available for combat and putting down riots and student disorders, it has been learned.

The M16s gradually are replacing World War II vintage M1 rifles and the newer M14 as the standard weapon in National Guard and Army Reserve combat units, a spokesman for the National Guard Bureau said Friday.

No official announcement was made of their distribution to Guard units, under frequent criticism in recent years for using too much firepower, too readily, in civil disturbances.

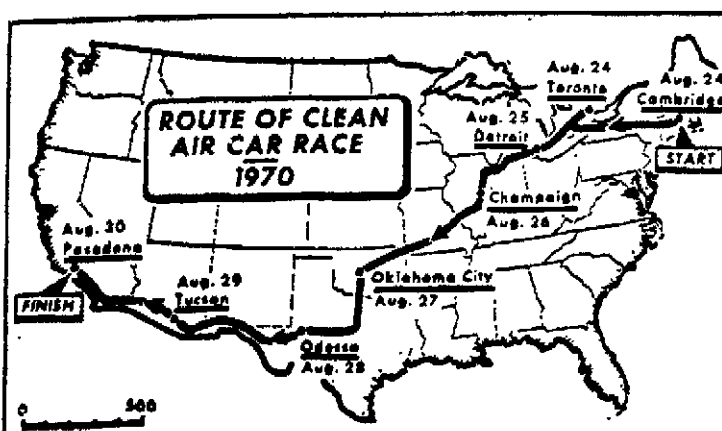

"Only Weapon"
"It will be the only weapon issued to them, and if the governor of a state elects to have them carry weapons when called to quell riots or other disturbances, then this would be the weapon they could carry," the spokesman said.

Adj. Gen. Sylvester Del Corso of the Ohio National Guard offered the first public word of the distribution of the hard-hitting rifles while testifying at Kent State University before a presidential commission investigating campus disorders. He said his troops would be getting M16s this fall.

The spokesman confirmed Guard units began receiving M16s four to six months ago. He said about 200,000 are expected to be in the armories by mid-1971. Some will come from inventories in Vietnam as troops are withdrawn.

Forty-Four Cars will follow this route starting Monday in a Clean Air Car Race. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Race for Clean Air

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Indiana coeds enter a cross country automobile race next week more interested in clean air than in women's liberation.

Cheryl Williams and Lydia Summers of Bedford, Ind., are out to show that their propane gas-powered car is so simple and practical "even two girls can drive it."

The girls will be the only All Girl entry among 50 student teams competing in the 3,600 mile Clean Air Car Race to test and publicize low-pollution alternatives to the gasoline-powered internal combustion engine. The race begins Monday at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and concludes Aug. 30 at the Caltech campus in Pasadena, Calif.

Some of the student teams in the race built their own entries, but the 1969 Oldsmobile that the girls will drive was converted by engineers at the Borg-Warner Corporation's Marvel-Schebler Division and is sponsored by Benjamin Bruner, a Bedford, Ind., engineering manufacturer.

Cheryl, 20 and a senior psychology major at the University of Evansville, is the team captain. Lydia, 21, is a senior nursing student at Purdue University. The two are long-time friends, but admit their mechanical knowledge is limited to changing tires and oil.

NY Hands Reds 3rd Loss in Row; Dodgers Stop Pirates

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

In the driver's seat for a change, New York Mets' left-hander Jerry Koosman pulled back on the throttle and switched gears to perfection, steering the Big Red Machine into a temporary skid.

Koosman, a 17-game winner last year and winner of two World Series games for the world champion Mets, completed his first start since June 25th, stalling the Cincinnati Reds on seven hits in New York's 4-1 triumph Friday night. It was the Reds' third straight loss and their West lead dwindled to a still-fat 10 games over Los Angeles.

Claude Osteen of the Dodgers won his fourth straight over Pittsburgh at home, stopping the Pirates 2-1 on a seven-hitter, sending the Mets to within 1 1/2 games of the East Division-leading Pirates.

In other National League games, San Francisco trimmed Chicago 5-1, Montreal tripped Atlanta 6-4, St. Louis trounced San Diego 14-8 and Philadelphia and Houston split a doubleheader, the Phillies winning the opener 9-3 and the Astros the nightcap 9-1.

Arm Feels Good
Koosman, 8-6, but plagued by a sore arm said, "My arm feels good. I was changing speeds off my curve very well. When I reached back for the fast ball occasionally, it was there.

The run off Koosman was unearned when Bud Harrelson booted a fourth inning grounder, his second error of the game, ending a record-tying 54 games of errorless ball by the Mets' shortstop. Dave Marshall keyed two Mets' rallies with a single and double, helping the Reds' to their third straight loss.

Osteen, 13-11, had a run of 46 scoreless innings against Pittsburgh at Dodger Stadium before the Pirates got a fifth-inning run on successive two-out single by Matty Alou, Dave Cash and Roberto Clemente.

The Cubs missed a chance to pick up ground on the Pirates but still remain only four games back in third place as they fell to Giants' right-hander Frank Reberger's six-hitter.

San Francisco pounded out 10 hits and all five runs in 5 1/2 innings off Chicago starter Bill Hands, 14 - 11. Willie McCovey drove in one run and scored another for the Giants.

The Expos rolled to their fourth straight triumph behind the home-run hitting of Bob Bailey, Rusty Staub and John Bateman. Carl Morton, who needed eighth-inning relief help, picked up his 15th victory. Clete Boyer and Bob Tillman homered for the Braves while Hank Aaron had a pair of RBIs, sending the right-fielder into eighth place on the all-time list with 1,829.

The Cardinals exploded for 15 hits, getting three apiece from winning pitcher Nelson Briles and Lou Brock and a homer and single by Joe Torre in belting the Padres.

Don Wilson tossed a three-hitter for the Astros in the nightcap with Jim Wynn connecting for a homer while Jim Bunning took the opener for the Phils, scattering 10 hits as Don Money slugged a three-run homer.

O.J.'s Finest Game

Bills Down Eagles In Frustrating Tilt

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The statistics look like this: Buffalo, 240 yards; Philadelphia, nine times for a setback of 98 yards.

Such was the play of the Buffalo Bills and Philadelphia Eagles Friday night in a National League Football pre-season game—the type of play that quickly makes old men of coaches.

Buffalo coach John Rauch's only satisfaction was that his team won, 35-20.

For Jerry Williams of Philadelphia, it was frustrating. He went nearly all the way with veteran quarterback Norm Snead, who, for only brief spurts, was able to spark the Eagles.

There are eight exhibition games on tap tonight, headed by a nationally televised (CBS) clash between the Minnesota Vikings and the Houston Oilers in the Astrodome.

In the others, Baltimore is at Denver, San Francisco at Miami, Oakland at Los Angeles, Green Bay at Dallas, Detroit at New Orleans, Cincinnati at St. Louis and the Kansas City Chiefs play the Cleveland Browns at Memphis, Tenn.

Buffalo started the night of comedy on the game's first play. Bubba Thornton returned the kickoff 38 yards to the Eagles' 44. A clipping penalty put the Bills back on their 31.

Then began a 18-play sequence for the Bills. It netted them a net gain of one yard. Midway through the "ball control," quarterback Jim Harris found Haven Moses in the end zone with a 28-yard pass. A holding penalty cancelled the touchdown.

O.J. Simpson, playing the finest game of his short pro career, scored two touchdowns on a two-yard run and a 49-yard pass from Dan Darragh.

Mini Max Anderson, who alternated with Simpson at running back, sprinted 64 yards for a touchdown after taking a pass from Harris and raced 56 yards around right end for a second score. J.C. Collins' fumble-recovery and his 17-yard jaunt accounted for Buffalo's other six pointer.

EMPLOYMENT
Designations as to sex in our classified columns are made only (1) to indicate bona fide occupational qualifications for employment which an employer regards as reasonably necessary to the normal operation of his business or enterprise, or (2) as a convenience to our readers to let them know which positions the advertiser believes would be of more interest to one sex than the other because of the nature of the work involved. Such designations shall not be taken to indicate that any advertiser intends or practices any unlawful preference,

Personnel Problems Appear To Plague Welfare Board

Personnel problems apparently continue to plague the Outagamie County Department of Social Services which has been without its director since Aug. 1.

The Board of Social Services, a five-member county board unit which governs the operations of the welfare agency, spent the greater share of the afternoon portion of its Friday meeting in executive (closed) session.

Corn Blight Loss May Hit 5 Per Cent

State Will Suffer Production Decrease As Disease Spreads

WEST ALLIS — Wisconsin will suffer, at the most, a 5 per cent decrease in its corn production this year because of southern leaf blight which is spreading into Wisconsin from Southern states, the State Board of Agriculture was informed Thursday at its regular meeting at State Fair Park.

Donald E. Wilkinson, secretary of the Department of Agriculture said this prediction was made after careful study by experts from his department and the University of Wisconsin. He added, however, that no one will know for sure what the damage really is until the harvest.

Several areas in southern Wisconsin have reported blight in their corn fields. There is no real pattern in the geographical spread of the blight. Wilkinson described it as erratic.

Very little blight has been found in Fond du Lac County, he said. Northeastern areas were described as suffering more from lack of rain which could weaken the corn and make it susceptible to attack by the blight spores.

Mazomanie Farm

Hardest hit is a farm in Mazomanie where more than 200 persons attended a meeting Thursday morning.

Personnel from the University of Illinois attended that meeting and disputed the figure of 25 per cent damage to Illinois crops previously reported by the Illinois Department of Agriculture. Wilkinson was told in a telephone report from his staff.

Wisconsin commercial corn looks good, Wilkinson said. Hardest hit are the seed crops which seem to be susceptible to the disease, he added.

Southern leaf blight thrives under moist conditions and southern states have had much rain this summer, the secretary explained. High winds carried the spore, a new type, to Illinois, Indiana and southern Wisconsin. Once the spore is settled it needs moisture. With warm, moist conditions, the spores get into the shank of the cob and the ear drops off. If conditions are right, the blight spreads fast.

Surveyed State

Wilkinson said his department had surveyed the state recently to see if the corn actually was being hit by southern leaf blight or whether it was northern leaf blight which "we have lived with for many years."

Roger B. Dick, Livingston, board member and seed grower, said his fields have been hit by the blight. He said he believed the male sterile method of seed growing carries with it a susceptibility to southern leaf blight. No one knows how the spores will winter. "We may have to go back to detasseling methods," he said, which also presents problems. Foundation seed stock may not be available and labor for the tedious process may be unobtainable. "This could be a serious problem for the seed industry," he said.

Spraying is too expensive and may have no value, he pointed out.

Corn which is in dent is impervious to infection and in many fields corn is denting now. Cool, dry weather would be a boon to corn growers, Wilkinson said.

Board member Kieran Powers, Lyndon Station, said his area was in real need of rain. He believed some people may be mistaking drought damage for blight. Blight could cause trouble in drought areas if they were to receive much rain.

Leonard Arnold, 18 1347 W. Commercial St., was ordered to appear in Outagamie County court Tuesday on a charge of obstructing a police officer. The charge stems from an incident March 30, when Arnold allegedly gave false information to police regarding the theft of a motorcycle.

On Sept. 3, Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller will hear the case of Thomas Van Denzen, 24, 327 1/2 W. Wisconsin Ave., who is charged by Appleton police with furnishing beer to four minors at an Appleton home on July 3. County Judge Nick F. Schaefer set bond at $100. Van Denzen pleaded innocent to the count Friday in Branch 2 at the Courthouse.

Shoplifting items worth $4.73 Aug. 14 from the K mart store brought a $50 fine and costs Friday for Donna Palmbach, 22, 213 1/2 Spruce St., Neenah. She pleaded guilty before Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer.

The theft case of Linda Paeth, 19, was continued to Tuesday in Outagamie County Branch 2 Friday so she can consult an attorney. Mrs. Paeth, 1801 W. Pershing St., allegedly took $7 from the purse of Jeannette Steffen May 8 while at an Appleton home. Miss Paeth was charged by an Outagamie County sheriff's investigator, County Judge Nick F. Schaefer set bond at $100.

Henry Brown, 40, 1835 W. Pershing St. will stand trial Oct. 6 on a charge of disorderly conduct brought by his wife. He pleaded innocent of the count before Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Branch 2 Friday. He allegedly struck and kicked Mrs. Brown when she came to his apartment Wednesday, causing several bruises and severe swelling to her right eye. Bail was set at $100.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller Friday ordered a presentence investigation for Richard Donnermeyer, 31, of Oshkosh, after he pleaded guilty to cashing a $25 worthless check May 6. The check was drawn on the Appleton State Bank and issued at the same place. Sentencing for Donnermeyer, who is being held in the county jail without bond, will be Monday morning.

A presentence investigation was ordered Friday for Walter Michael Paltzer, 27, 2312 W. Wisconsin Ave., who pleaded guilty Friday to four counts of check forgery. He appeared before Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr, who will impose sentence Sept. 9. He is free without bond.

Paltzer issued the four checks in Appleton and Grand Chute July 27 and 28, after signing them with his mother's name. They totaled $100.52, and were drawn on the First National Bank of Appleton. He appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 3.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer ordered a presentence investigation Friday for Roger Fahrenkrug, 34, who pleaded guilty to two counts of check forgery. He is being held without bond pending sentencing Sept. 1.

Fahrenkrug, 317 N. Appleton St., was charged by detectives who said he forged a $92 check July 14, and one of $20 Aug. 2. The checks belonged to an Appleton woman, and were drawn on the Outagamie County Bank.

LITTLE CHUTE — Art Wachtendonk, 116 N. Lincoln Rogers Ave., allegedly took $100, was shot out of a home he is building in Jones Court sometime after work Wednesday evening. Police believe youngsters with BB-guns are responsible for the damage.

KIMBERLY — Greg Schultz, route 1, Menasha, reported the theft of his wallet, containing between $50 and $60 and personal papers, from an unlocked locker at Holy Name School gym while he played basketball on Aug. 8.

KIMBERLY — Cars driven by Paul Petrie, 42, 319 S. Patrick St., Kimberly, and Joseph Ver Voort Jr., 21, 124 1/2 Atlantic St., Appleton, were extensively damaged in a two-car accident about 2:15 p.m. Wednesday at Third and Helen streets. Investigation is continuing.

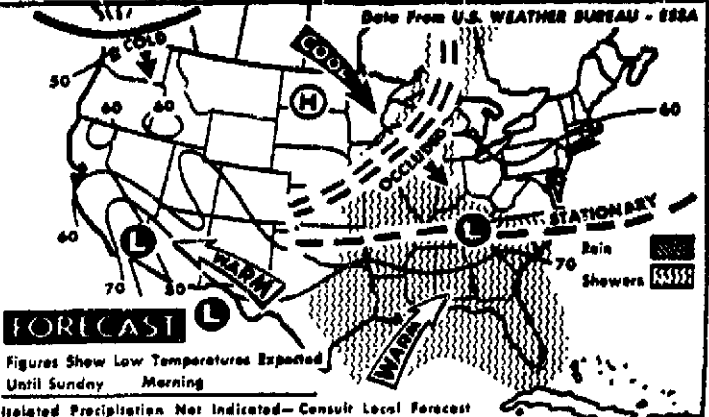

KAUKAUNA — Police were called about 2:50 a.m. Thursday to Golden Venture Apartments, 125 W. 10th St., when a woman resident noted some youths sitting in the parking lot. The youths were gone when police arrived.

KAUKAUNA — Police recovered a car stolen from the home of David J. Duranek, 118 W. Seventh St., before the owner reported it stolen.

CHILTON — Edwin Fralick, 21, Hilbert, was fined $115 Monday when he appeared in Calumet County Court on a charge of driving after revocation of his driver's license. Judge D. H. Sebora ordered a mandatory five-day jail sentence to be served with Huber Law privileges. He was arrested July 14.

WRIGHTSTOWN — Three persons sustained minor injuries Thursday afternoon when one auto struck the rear of another on U. S. 41, about two miles northwest of here.

The State Patrol said that when an auto going north on 41 was slowed in the passing lane named by Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer.

Showsers Are Predicted today for the South, the Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes region. Warmer temperatures are forecast for the Southwest. Cooler weather is due in the Northwest and Midwest. (AP Wirephoto Map)

County Trunk DD, an auto driven by Daniel P. Mayville, 21, Green Bay, struck it. Mayville suffered a minor injury, while his passenger, Marsha L. Mayville, 20, same address, complained of a sore neck.

The driver of the other car, Jean C. Zittlow, 57, route 2, Kaukauna, also was injured. Damage to the two autos totaled $1,000.

Appleton detectives have charged an 18-year-old youth with possessing a dangerous drug. He was arrested Friday morning after his father turned over to authorities what preliminary tests indicate are two marijuana cigarettes.

Tim Paul Kvale, 2108 N. Ullman St., filed an indigency claim Friday afternoon and a court appointed attorney was named by Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer.

Cylon Welsh Rites Sunday At Marion

MARION — Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Sunday at St. John Lutheran Church for Cylon Welsh, 63.

Visitation will be until 11:30 a.m. Sunday at the Schroeder Funeral Home. Burial will be here in Greenleaf Cemetery.

Welsh, the sales manager and chairman of the Welch Fire Equipment Co., died of a heart attack Thursday in his office.

Welch, a native of Marion, was employed at the FWD Corp., Clintonville, from 1936 to 1968 as sales manager of Sea-grave Fire Apparatus. Before joining the firm he taught history, and physical education and coached at Marion High School.

He was a past president of the Fire Apparatus Manufacturing Association, a charter member of the Marion Lions Club and a member of the St. John Lutheran Church.

Holy Cross Pupils to Register Wednesday

KAUKAUNA — Registration of pupils in all grades will be held Wednesday at Holy Cross Catholic School, according to Sister Joseph Marie Biddle, principal.

Teachers will be in classrooms from 9 to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m. for parents interested in meeting instructors who will be teaching their children. Regular classes will start at 8:30 a.m. Aug. 31. An enrollment of about 500 is expected.

Kaukauna's Help Assured in Industrial Land Annexation

KAUKAUNA — Industries and business interested in locating here on land they want annexed to the city would have its cooperation and help in selecting sites, Mayor Gilbert Anderson Monday told the Chamber of Commerce.

"Petitions for annexation must come from the property owners," said Mayor Anderson. He explained steps of annexation, noting that a petition must be signed by a majority of the electors, owners of over 50 per cent of the property involved or owners of the greater assessed valuation of the property.

"Not all annexations are good ones, so the planning commission and city council are careful not to put their stamp of they are economically beneficial approval on annexations unless

Oneida Bridge Project Gets Top Priority Rating

Planning Team's Verdict Asked to Break Logjam

A planning and engineering team has given the Oneida Street high-level bridge project top priority among three bridgebuilding proposals in the city, and Mayor George Buckley has given the report his immediate backing.

The report, written in an effort to break the logjam over choosing a bridge project to ask state financial help in building in the 1971-73 budget year, also recommends early efforts at coordinating Tri-County Expressway preparations with state highway officials.

The City Council's Streets and Sanitation Committee will take up the bridge question Aug. 31, with the report expected to be the basis for discussion.

The committee asked for the expert recommendations last week.

City and regional officials are hoping to come up with a unified proposal to the State Highway Commission, which is to hold hearings Sept. 9 on Memorial Drive and Oneida Street bridge proposals.

The report comes from members of the staff of the Appleton Public Works Department, Fox Valley Council of Government (COG) and city Planning and Development Department.

Goes Along

They met Thursday and submitted their recommendations Friday to Buckley, who announced after reading the report, "I have to go along with the professionals."

The mayor previously had been unsuccessful in seeking support for placing the Memorial Drive Bridge replacement project at the top of the city's three-bridge list. But he also has stated he would accept whatever recommendation the engineers and planners endorsed.

The report, addressed to Buckley and recommended for distribution to the city's 20 aldermen and various other interested groups and individuals, notes that six bridges are proposed in the COG Tri-County Expressway plan between Menasha and Kimberly.

Of those, three are in the City, including Memorial Drive, Oneida Street and French Road, the report notes, stating that the study team recommends top priority for the Oneida Street bridge because it would give the greatest immediate benefits.

Obey Reception Set

CLINTONVILLE — A reception in honor of Rep. and Mrs. David Obey will be held from 8 to 11 p.m. Wednesday at Fischer's Supper Club.

Classes at Weyauwega Start Monday

System Welcomes 13 New Teachers, High School Principal

WEYAUWEGA — Classes for children in the Weyauwega Joint School District will begin Monday, which will be full day with hot lunch.

Three new teachers, including the principal, will greet students at Weyauwega High School. New faculty members include Patrick O'Rourke, principal, who holds a masters degree from Superior State University; Michael Flanagan, physical education, science, head basketball coach, graduate of LaCrosse State University, and Robert Van Gompel, history, Oshkosh State University graduate.

Teachers new to the system are Mrs. Karalee Dieck, mathematics, Oshkosh State University; Miss Carol McMahon, science, River Falls State University, and Miss Kathleen Weber, English, Oshkosh State University, all in sixth and seventh grade.

New faculty members at the Weyauwega Elementary School are: Miss Sylvia Zetterberg, kindergarten, River Falls; Miss Sharon Johnson, first grade, Stevens Point; Miss Carla Oman, second grade, Oshkosh; Miss Marilyn Gundersen, third grade, Carroll College, Waukesha; Mrs. Betty Johnson, third grade, Stevens Point.

New teachers contracted through Cooperative Educational Service Agency are Wayne Mast, remedial reading for upper elementary, and Miss Patty Johanson, speech therapist.

Vacancies still exist for sixth and seventh grade reading classes.

Students in grades 6-7-8 are required to pay a $4 fee for lockers and towel service. High school students paid during registration.

Hot lunch prices are grades 1-3-$1.50 a week, grades 4-8-$1.75 a week and high school $2 a week.

Elementary students who wish to have milk at morning break will be charged a fee of $1 for each nine-week period.

Tractor Driving requires total concentration, even if the ride is being taken in your imagination at a county fair. Jeffrey Stuebs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Stuebs, Clintonville, mentally puts a tractor through its paces at Waupaca County's annual exposition in Weyauwega. The fair runs through Sunday. Safety Building Panel Will Buy Parking Space

First Step to Prove County's 'Sincerity' in Long Standing Plan

The Outagamie County Safety Building Committee hopes to have at least 36 offstreet parking spaces by this winter, it indicated Friday afternoon.

The group earlier this week hired the real estate firm of Long-Wieckert & Karel to seek options on properties near the courthouse.

The first purchase, a lot on the southwest corner of Walnut and Sixth streets, should create an "atmosphere in the neighborhood that the county is sincere" in its efforts to get the safety building project moving, said Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna.

Providing parking and hiring an architect are the two immediate tasks of the special committee.

Members moved closer toward contracting with Sauter Seaborn Architects, Ltd., Appleton, in an evening informational session with the firm for new members to familiarize themselves with the plans.

It was still in doubt at the committee's afternoon meeting whether Sauter Seaborn was still retained from the recent jail building project which had to be dumped.

George Narovec and Associates architects, Appleton, also prepared a jail plan. Its contract was terminated this week as the county paid up its $3,540 share of the design project initiated by the joint city-county safety building committee, now defunct.

DeLaHunt stressed the need for the committee to keep up a sense of urgency on the structure. He said it "would be too bad if we missed next year's building season" if the preliminary work — up to bid letting — were not completed before next spring.

The committee will ask the City Council for a permit to raze the house on the corner of Walnut and Sixth and construct parking facilities.

Supv. Jerome Hiler, Appleton, chairman of the new group, said he is confronted daily by taxpayers who demand, "When are you going to do something? When are you going to do something? It isn't hurrying on this," he said, "when this has been going on since 1958."

Sauter Seaborn already has specifications for a building, from an earlier design program, between the courthouse and the annex. It would contain new jail quarters, courtrooms and offices for the county, with space to be leased by the city for its police department.

Planners Propose Housing For Elderly in Rural Areas

Northeastern Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission has designed a housing program which it hopes will provide housing in small communities for the elderly, rescuing them from expense, hustle and bustle of big city living.

The program, which relies chiefly on interested residents of a community for stimulating privately-built housing developments, is expected also to stimulate eventual migration of low- and moderate-income families to these rural areas to provide services for the elderly its originator says.

The concept is broad, says Mrs. Barbara Kennedy, Northeastern's senior housing planner, but it's what the president and the governor, and state and federal agencies want.

Developers Show Interest Part of Gov. Warren Knowles' Mission 70 project goal is to find what can be done to slow or reverse the rural to urban migration.

Mrs. Kennedy says her housing concept report is only about a month old and already developers and residents, particularly in Winnebago County, have shown interest. She predicts that several housing developments in small communities in Northeastern's nine-county region will be under way within two years.

Developments could include individual homes, two-story houses, low- and high-rise structures, clusters and common wall buildings.

Mrs. Kennedy says her program is unique and was labeled by a top U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare official as possibly a pilot program for the nation.

The new concept is to involve many federal and state agencies, as well as Northeastern's various program officials, in producing housing. In her report, Mrs. Kennedy lists several federal agencies, including four departments, which she would use toward meeting area needs.

"My concept is that I don't plan houses; I plan housing," she says, noting she will attempt to relate her housing projects to needs in education, sewer and water, health and other services.

But she adds that "we are not planning to study the thing to death."

Housing projects have been "the expedient building" of units for a certain number of people without considering future needs or economic growth of the area, she says. She intends to consider the impact on the entire region and state of a housing project before it's built, she adds.

She says medical and other facilities would be included in the project so no undue burden would be placed on the community. And with elderly, there is no school problem, she says.

This leaves the cities for the young, productive people but also will give the young the option to stay in a smaller community to provide services for the elderly, she says.

Her program isn't "bringing ghetto people to descend on rural areas," she says, but rather using the resources of the rural areas to solve a statewide problem. She says a recent Wisconsin Rural Housing Cooperative study showed that about one of every four persons live in substandard housing.

She expects strong support from federal agencies. "I was told by someone in Washington that if I could think it up, it could be done," she says.

Mrs. Kennedy believes her program could reduce or eliminate the need for public housing in this region. It also would encourage industry to move to rural areas, she says.

Weyauwega Co-op Votes Capital Hike

WEYAUWEGA — Stockholders of the Weyauwega Union Cooperative amended their articles of incorporation Wednesday to increase the authorized capital to $350,000.

Secretary-Treasurer Harold Paschke announced a net margin for the year of $101,000, to be distributed to patrons.

Marlyn Hahn, Walter Stelzner and Neal Stuebs were reelected directors. At an organizational meeting the following officers were reelected: Harvey Jonely, president; Neal Stuebs, vice president, and Harold Paschke, secretary-treasurer.

Last Day in Waupaca

Harness Races to Highlight Fair

WEYAUWEGA — Harness racing fans will be treated to eight heats of sulky racing Sunday afternoon on the final day of the Waupaca County Fair.

Horses will compete in a pace for non-winners of $700, with two-year-olds eligible; a free-for-all trot, and a free-for-all pace. The race with the largest number of entrants will be run in two sections.

One of the contests will be named in honor of the late Robert Van Schyndel, popular driver from Kaukauna who died late last year. Fellow horsemen have donated a blanket trophy in his honor.

Trophy Blankets Other trophy blankets have been donated by Simpson's Indian Room, Ponderosa, Wendt-Peterson, Holiday Inn Supper Club, Hotel Weyauwega, Tony's Midway Bar and "The Wisconsin Farmer."

The Weyauwega Garden Club will present flowers to both days' winners.

Beth Hintz will be hostess for the demonstrations to be presented beginning at 1:15 p.m. in the junior fair tent. The county 4-H band and chorus will entertain between 3 and 4 p.m.

Activities will conclude with the county dress review at 4 p.m. Becky Baumer, Alice Ferg and Mary Glocke will be the narrators.

Area drivers will compete in a demolition derby promoted by Mayhem, Inc. The derby at 8 p.m. will be the final grandstand performance of the fair.

Calumet Homestead Addition Bids Opened

CHILTON — An Appleton firm is the apparent low bidder for general work on the 50-bed addition to the Calumet Homestead in New Holstein.

William Tiede & Sons entered a low bid of $644,480. The high bid was $722,992.

Bids for the construction of the addition were opened Thursday night at the courthouse here with no action taken. The bids will be taken under advisement and a report will be made to the public grounds committee at a later date.

Other Bidders Rhode Brothers, Plymouth, entered a low bid of $112,390 for the heating and ventilating and a low bid of $29,669 for the sprinkler system for fire protection.

Other apparent low bidders were Nickolay Electric, Manitowoc, $97,230, electrical work; Kitchen-Ware, Ins., Wauwatosa, $29,970, kitchen work; Silvas, Co., Sheboygan, $108,129, plumbing and drainage, and A. Kieckhefer Elevator, Milwaukee, $17,834, elevators.

Staubenrauch Associates, Sheboygan, is the architect for the expansion program.

Six bids were received for the general work, 11 for heating and ventilating, six for plumbing and drainage, five for electrical, three for elevators, four for kitchen and six for fire protection sprinklers.

Attorney General Speaks to CESA

'Police Won't Solve Drug Problem'

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

With the words of a district attorney still ringing in their ears, Fox Valley area educators were told by the state's top law enforcer Friday that "all the policemen in the world aren't going to solve the drug problem."

State Atty. Gen. Robert W. Warren, luncheon speaker at an inservice education seminar sponsored by Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) 8, told the educators they have a responsibility to "convince the young people of the dangers of mind-altering drugs."

Milwaukee County Dist. Atty. E. Michael McCann issued the same educators the same challenge Thursday. The week-long CESA session, which attracted educators from 16 school districts, ended Friday.

Warren admonished the educators, when dealing with the drug problem, to "be knowledgeable" and "be honest."

Complex Subject

He told them the field of drug abuse is constantly changing. The subject, Warren said, is a complex one.

Warren also briefed the educators on what the state has done in attempts to control drug abuse and what remains to be done.

"The state is just getting its feet wet," he explained. "We better learn to solve (the drug problem) or we'll have a nation of non-productive young people."

Warren praised the last session of the State Legislature for what he saw as a "responsive and responsible" approach to the drug fight.

He reviewed some of the recent legislation, including changes in the states narcotic and dangerous drug laws which made marijuana possession a misdemeanor crime.

The legislation "cleared up some of the hangups in the laws," Warren noted.

Moved in Quickly

Two outstanding factors recognized by those dealing with the drug problem in Wisconsin, Warren said, are the speed with which it moved in and the lack of solid, statistical information relating to it.

Explaining that the Department of Justice is hiring 21 more undercover narcotics agents, Warren said his office now has 200 requests for help from such agents. Many of the requests cannot be fulfilled.

The agents, he said, aim their efforts primarily toward the narcotics "pushers and traffickers."

In response to a question from a teacher, Warren admitted that organized crime plays a role in drug traffic in the state.

"Anytime you have heroin, you have organized crime. It flows through organized crime channels," he explained. However, he said that organized crime factions in Wisconsin are not necessarily involved in the state's heroin traffic.

He described the state's Mafia family as being a "satellite family" with about 50 or 60 members.

Expanding on his reply to the teacher's question, Warren said that "a lot of the drug culture we have in Wisconsin is informal in nature."

7th District Talks

LeTendre Praises Policies of Nixon

WAUSAU — In a series of speeches before small groups of Republicans during the past few days, 7th District congressional candidate Andre LeTendre has praised the Nixon Administration as peace-making and money-saving, while accusing his Democratic opponent of spendthrift tendencies and attempting to suppress his opposition.

LeTendre, endorsed by the district GOP to challenge the incumbent Democrat, Rep. David Obey of Wausau, said in Wisconsin Rapids Wednesday that under President Nixon the chance for peace in the Middle East is improved, strategic arms talks with Russia are making progress and there is a chance of exceeding the goal of withdrawing 150,000 troops by next spring from Vietnam.

LeTendre told a gathering of campaign workers that Nixon and Defense Secretary Melvin

Women of Moose, Clintonville, Set Plans for Picnic

CLINTONVILLE — Plans for the Sunday family picnic were completed by the Women of the Moose. There will be a potluck dinner at noon and a corn roast will conclude the afternoon's activities. There will be games and prizes for the children.

Chapters chairmen were named and committees assigned Thursday. Lunch was served by Mrs. Emma Boswell and Mrs. Henry Berndt, Jr., at the social hour Thursday.

Relatives and friends of the Women of the Moose will meet at 1:30 p.m. at the club house Tuesday to honor Mrs. Herman Nass, who will celebrate her 80th birthday.

Service to Open St. Peter School At Weyauwega

WEYAUWEGA — St. Peter Lutheran School will open Monday with a service in the church at 8:30 a.m. A total of 185 pupils are enrolled for the 1970-71 year, a decrease of 10.

David Brown will teach the third grade and also assume the duties of choir director.

Jerome Zoelner has been released from his duties as fifth grade teacher to accept a call from Reedsville. Mrs. Everette Jorgensen will substitute until another teacher is called.

Turn Down Corn 'Handout'

Welfare Mothers Confront Top Republicans

BY CLIFF MILLER

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KIMBERLY — Women protesting for changes in welfare laws confronted prominent Wisconsin Republicans at a corn roast Thursday, sticking to their purpose and politely turning down an offer of hot buttered corn.

"We didn't come here for a handout," said one of the women when Dr. David Gruenwaldt, Outagamie County party chairman, invited the six women to bring their signs across the road and join the festivities.

One woman remarked to Gruenwaldt, "You're a friendly bunch," and timidly put down her protest sign to nibble an ear of corn. But Mrs. Delores Seely, a former welfare recipient who organized the county welfare mothers' group, told Gruenwaldt, "We thank you very much but we decline."

She added, "We came and made our point and we'll just quietly go home."

The women felt they made their point in a series of discussions, sometimes heated, involving a number of state officials at the corn roast.

Assembly Speaker Harold V. Froehlich of Appleton was a major target of the protest, as leader of the Assembly during the past year when cutbacks in welfare spending were enacted.

After listening to Froehlich tell them they are receiving higher welfare payments today than a year ago, one woman asked, "Mr. Froehlich, would you — could you — live on a welfare check?"

"No I'd go out and get a job," shot back the reddening speaker.

Mrs. Seely, who is self-supporting after receiving training in the federal WIN employment program for welfare recipients, replied, "There are no jobs to be had." Recent WIN graduates are "sitting there" after finishing the training period, remaining unemployed for lack of jobs, she said.

Froehlich replied that a lot of welfare recipients could have found jobs a year ago before they became scarce, without going through the WIN program.

Later, one of the women took Froehlich aside and explained that her alcoholic husband left her with 10 children and she is unable to work. Froehlich suggested finding the husband and making him make support payments. She said, "It don't pay to track him down" because of his drinking problem.

One of the women carried a sign quoting a Madison newspaper report rating Froehlich's voting record as 25 per cent in the public interest. Froehlich told the woman if everyone voted in what the newspaper considered the public interest, "You would have a left-wing, socialist government."

State Rep. Ervin Conradt of Shiocton told the women that one of the votes Froehlich cast that was rated not in the public interest was to "jail Father Groppi." The women said they agreed with Froehlich on that issue.

State Rep. David Martin said the reductions in welfare benefits were adopted to increase the incentive for deserted wives to press to have missing husbands found and forced to make support payments. "I think it's starting to work," Martin added.

A crowd began to gather and Kimberly police ordered them off the roadway through Sunset Point Park. The group moved across the road and John Erickson, candidate for

Top Conservation

Marion Man Nominated

MARION — Martin Lutze-witz, 312 Garfield St., has been nominated a candidate for top honors in state conservation.

His backers hope he will be named one of the 10 top conservationists at the Governor's Conservation awards banquet, Oct. 31 in Madison.

Lutze-witz, known to conservationists and sportsmen in this area for 35 years as "Ozzie," has dedicated his energies to conservation planning and projects since he graduated from high school here in 1935, according to State Rep. Francis Byers, R-Marion, who placed his name on the governor's list this week.

"He has certainly been the sparkplug of many endeavors in this immediate area — and the influence and results of his work have been far-reaching," Byers added. "He was planting fish in our lakes and streams when fingerlings were delivered in milk cans. He started a number of big pheasant rearing projects and the rearing of ducks on the Pigeon River and pond for the local flyway."

"Ozzie's work in renovating the Marion Pond, marshalled local support for the project now under way and strongly influenced the recognition by the Upper Great Lakes Planning Commission, the Inland Lakes Commission and the University of Wisconsin Extension, which resulted in a $65,000 test project grant for renovating the mill pond."

The mill pond project started with the removal of stumps, logs and filth from the pond, Byers said. "When we are finished there will be a pond placed on the bottom of the pond to discourage weed growth. There will be a new beach and up river there will be celery and other life supporting plants seeded in the river for a wild fowl sanctuary."

"It is a glorious accomplishment for this community of 1,200 and the visitors with whom we will share it through the coming years," he added.

Politics Hamstrings Tax Distribution to Towns, Big Cities

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A special legislative committee working with representatives of urban and rural interests spent more than five hours Thursday in a laborious effort to salvage some of the objectives of the Tarr task force tax distribution formula repudiated by the Legislature last year, with results that were inconclusive at best.

After a blizzard of motions and suggestions for new formulas for the sharing of the millions of dollars in state tax collections now shared with municipalities, the study group informally agreed to attempt a minor revision of the rules for the distribution of the local shares of the state corporation and income tax yield.

Whether the plan of Rep. Merrill Stalbaum of Racine County will be recommended to the Legislature evidently depends on an analysis of its effects that will be made by James R. Morgan secretary of the State Department of Revenue.

Election Year But it was apparent on its face that the Stalbaum plan would have far less gain for high tax communities and far less penalty for the low tax districts than was envisioned in the Tarr report of a year ago.

It was evident also that legislators were anxious to avoid outright repudiation in a campaign year of the demands for a more "equitable" plan that have been pressed being careful also to avoid the risk of antagonizing too deeply the suburban and rural interests.

The Stalbaum plan given a favorable preliminary vote would cut off state income tax payments to localities when they reach an equivalent of the yield of seven mills of property taxation per $1,000 of equalized value and change the eligibility level for payments to localities under the Property Tax Relief Act to 20 mills of equalized valuation taxation instead of the 14 mills rule in existing law.

How the proposal would affect particular localities could not be tested immediately. But it seemed apparent that the seven mill rule would leave such cities as those in the Fox River Valley in the same relative position they now have with respect to state income tax receipts. But the change of the eligibility level for aid under the separate property tax relief act from 14 to 20 mills might alter their situations, members of the committee conceded, emphasizing that only detailed analysis would show the consequences.

Stalbaum estimated that one result of the plan, if enacted, would be to add about $10 million to the property tax relief fund, which now amounts to about $65 million a year. The fund now permits the state to pick up about 6 per cent of the property tax bills in localities with an effective equalized tax rate of 14 mills or more.

In a most optimistic interpretation, the proposal would be a mere shadow of the complete overhaul of the tax sharing plan demanded by the Tarr commission. But it also showed a reluctance of leading legislators to ignore the issue of tax distribution, which the Alliance of Cities has insisted upon making a major issue in the current election campaign.

But it also reflected the practical political problems in enacting a new distribution blueprint by the Legislature.

Sen. James Swan of Janesville probably keynoted the Legislature's reserve — verified by the failure of scores of other redistribution demands over a number of decades — when he remarked that "it is politically impossible, and surely improbable" that any legislation can be enacted that will "penalize the

County Sets Safety Lease Specifications

30,000 Square Feet Earmarked for City Office Requirements

The final formula for city payments on a 15-year lease for the planned city-county safety building was ironed out by the Outagamie County Finance Committee Thursday, and will be sent to the Appleton City Council which must approve it.

The formula is based on a $3 million total cost for the building, "a figure that we hope not to exceed," County Administrator Alvin Woehler said.

Since the county is required by law to provide jail facilities, the estimated cost of the jail, $750,000, is subtracted from the total. Of the approximately 90,000 square feet in the building, about 20,000 will be in the jail area.

Of the 70,000 remaining square feet, the city has requested 30,000. This means that the city would pay for about 45 per cent of the administrative part of the building, or approximately 32 per cent of the total $3 million figure, Woehler said.

The city also would pay 6 per cent yearly interest on the unpaid principal over the 15 years of the lease. Using the estimated $3 million total, which will be final when contractor bids are let, the city would pay over the 15 years approximately $964,350 in principal and $462,888 in interest.

This amounts to about $3.22 per square foot per year, Woehler said. The city would have the option to pay the interest and principal as it accrues, or as a fixed amount each year based on square footage.

many for the benefit of the few."

Committee members tossed out numerous other suggestions for tax distribution changes, generally reflecting the parochial interests of the authors, but no others reached a vote.

The group wrestled for several hours with the ancient issue of utility tax distribution — which cities claim is now rigged in favor of towns in which utility generating plants are located by happenstance — but resolved only to ask Morgan to attempt to devise a new scheme that might be acceptable to the larger cities which want a larger share of such revenues, as well as the smaller communities which most frequently are the locations of such plants and get the largest share of their property tax payments.

Wittenberg-Biramwood

Public Schools Start Wednesday

WITTENBERG — Pupils will attend classes only in the morning when the school year begins Wednesday in the Wittenberg-Biramwood School District.

Buses will leave Wittenberg and Biramwood at 11:30 a.m. Thursday will be the first full day of school with sessions at Elderon and Biramwood. Lunch will be served at all schools.

The first week of school will be ended at 8 p.m. Friday with a football game at Colby.

Prior to the opening of classes, teachers will engage in an inservice training program here on Monday and Tuesday.

Meet in Gym The faculty will meet in the gymnasium where coffee and rolls will be served at 8:30 a.m. on the first day. An official welcome and report on educational planning and the progress of the new high school will be given by Supt. Erwin B. Wickstrom.

At 9:30 a.m. Dr. Larry Masters, Oshkosh State University, will present an analysis of secondary curriculum for secondary teachers in the high school music room. At the same time, Dr. Elwood Weiss, also of OSU, will give a presentation on elementary curriculum for grades K-8 in the high school gymnasium.

Lawrence Loomis, of Superior Audio Visual Corp., will give a demonstration on closed circuit television for both secondary and elementary teachers in the gym at 10:45 a.m.

At 11:30 a.m. Frank Pappene, business manager, will speak to all teachers in the gym.

Teachers and staff will be the guests of the Board of Education at lunch at the Wittenberg Elementary School.

Sessions will resume at 1 p.m. when Gene Jensen, Wisconsin Physician Service group consultant, will meet with new teachers and other teachers who have specific insurance problems in the science room at the Wittenberg Elementary School.

In-service sessions will resume at 9 a.m. Tuesday with a Cooperative Education Service Act No. 7 (CESA No. 7) session on drug abuse conducted at 9:15 a.m. Raymond Wolf, school psychologist, will lead a 10 a.m. CESA No. 7 session.

Group meetings will end following this meeting and all teachers will report to their respective schools to prepare for opening of classes.

At 1:30 p.m. all members of the high school faculty will meet in the Wittenberg High School music room and all elementary teachers will meet in the high school gym.

Paul Neja and his staff from the Wolf River Mental Health Center, Shawano, will meet with all elementary teachers at 3 p.m. Sessions for grades K-3 will meet in the agricultural classroom; grades 4-6 in the mathematics room; and grades 7-8 will meet with special education, music, art and physical education teachers in the music room.

In-service sessions will resume at 9 a.m. Tuesday with a Cooperative Education Service Act No. 7 (CESA No. 7) session on drug abuse conducted at 9:15 a.m. Raymond Wolf, school psychologist, will lead a 10 a.m. CESA No. 7 session.

Group meetings will end following this meeting and all teachers will report to their respective schools to prepare for opening of classes.

A State Pilot program for people who will work as assistants to professional school health officials, came to a successful conclusion this week when seven students completed the aides program offered by Fox Valley Technical Institute. Dominic Bordini, head of research and ed to three-fourths of one mill a year, he said.

If such a plan reaches the floor of the Legislature, it is likely that other school costs — such as debt retirement on technical school buildings — would be added to the package. Noll conceded after the budget was approved.

Those costs probably would add no more than about $25 million to the $109 million two-year price tag, however, he said.

Noll said his plan, forwarded by his board to the CCHE with strong urgings that it be recommended as the system's budget for the next two years, was based on the need to provide equal educational opportunity to all residents of the state.

Eagles Cancel 'Whites Only' Rule for Entry

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Fraternal Order of Eagles' controversial "whites only" membership clause has been canceled, the senior member of the organization's judiciary said Friday.

Charles H. Rowan, a Milwaukee attorney, said unanimous action Aug. 1 by 800 delegates to the Eagles national convention in Kansas City had the effect of canceling the word "caucasian" in the preamble of the constitution.

Rowan said the word—used to denote a qualification for membership—was not deleted. But he said the convention ratified an amendment giving the 1,600 local aeries the sole right to determine who shall be admitted to membership. That, in effect, Rowan said, removes racial qualification or exclusion.

The basis for the action was an opinion written by Circuit Judge Leander J. Foley of Milwaukee.

That was the goal of the 1965 districting act which gave the state 18 technical districts, he said. Some districts are working well and are offering top-grade programs, while others are lagging, he told the board.

What was needed was a state district system of eight or 10 regions, but that would have made the system too remote from the people it serves, he said.

A practical alternative, said Noll, is state financing and operating guidance with local boards continuing their operations as well.

Back of the Hand to OEO

When the Congress established the Office of Economic Opportunity and funded it to grant aid to public and private groups for an endless diversity of purposes over the country, it prudently required that such OEO-approved grants must be endorsed by the governors of the states involved in order to be paid out by Washington.

Gov. Knowles the other day vetoed the first of such grants to Wisconsin during his years in office, and under circumstances that validate the caution of the Congress in the first instance.

The sum involved was the respectable amount of $65,760, and ostensibly would be used for "research" into the needs of disadvantaged children in "community colleges." "Research" has become the favorite catch-all phrase of the big spenders in government, and perhaps there has been more wasted tax money in the name of ill-defined and often faked research than in any other domestic expenditure of the national government.

The governor could have been more explicit in his objections. He emphasized as his major reason for his veto the fact that there are no "community colleges" in Wisconsin, in legal definition. To some persons this may appear like hair-splitting, since our larger urban schools of vocational education perform at least some of the services of the institutions called community colleges in official nomenclature of other parts of the country.

Now State Rep. David Martin of Neenah, in a letter to the OEO chief, has illuminated the matter usefully.

The casual acceptance of a "community college" in Wisconsin which does not have such an institution shows a careless review of applications for OEO funds, he suggests. But more important, Mr. Martin notes that the OEO either does not care, or did not trouble to ascertain, that this grant was earmarked for a private corporation and that the private corporation is headed by a Racine politician and office-holder, namely, State Rep. Manny Brown.

The corporation also includes Brown's wife as being involved in the proposal for the "research" project.

Mr. Martin argues that there are numerous public agencies in Wisconsin now equipped for any such studies, and demonstrably better equipped than the Brown corporation of suggestively recent vintage. There is also "the obvious question of propriety when an elected official serves as an officer of a corporation contracting with the government," said Mr. Martin.

Donald Rumsfeld, the director of OEO, can profitably take heed of the suggestion of Mr. Martin that the superficiality of examination of the Racine proposal poses a very real threat to the public confidence and support of the vast OEO program.

Women Would Change the Army

Acquiescent women and threatened men have come up with what they consider the ultimate answer to the foolishness of "women's liberation." "Draft women, that'll shut them up" is a popular opinion expressed around town and reflected in news stories and political cartoons.

But, consider. The Army will never be the same with women, and the other services may have to fall in line. The nostalgic stories men tell with fondness 20 years after their tours of duty will become definite relics of the past, never to be repeated when their sons enter the armed forces.

Because, if drafted, women will not be content to play Florence Nightingale in the Army Nurse Corps nor type or pitch in in the mess hall dutifully in the WACs. If drafted, women will demand equal rights and opportunities. This means piloting and navigating airplanes and helicopters, participating in or having charge of intelligence work and being schooled in auto mechanics. In short, it opens all fields to women—even drilling new recruits, even war.

Women will not be appalled nor intimidated, and they are tiring rapidly of those immature enough to use such stratagems.

It's an 'Ancillary Effect'

The latest Pentagonese is "ancillary effect." The phrase has been added to "protective reaction," the "inherent right to self defense" and "augmented protective reaction." What it means is raids by American planes in areas where our officials have pledged that we aren't really fighting.

Once the American ground troops left Cambodia, as President Nixon promised they would by the end of June, air support continued although the President also thoughtlessly said in May that our air and logistical support would be out of that country too. But American officials hastened to add that American bombing raids were only to prevent a new buildup of North Vietnamese troops in Cambodia and therefore to protect the lives of American troops back in South Vietnam. It did appear that the raids were being directed by Cambodian officials so then it was announced that "such interdiction operations will have an ancillary effect that directly benefits the present government in Cambodia, but the reason for carrying on air activities in Cambodia is the interdiction of supplies, materials and personnel in order to protect Americans in Vietnam, to facilitate the Vietnamization program, to enhance continuing American withdrawals and to reduce American casualties."

In the area of hard reality the raids can be justified and the vague disclaimers can also be explained. The Indochinese war is no longer limited to Vietnam as anyone can tell nor has it been for many months. Clearly North Vietnamese killed in Cambodia or Laos are not going to ambush American or South Vietnamese troops near Saigon. The official disclaimers are simply to try to soothe those in this country who rightly fear a widening of the war but it is unlikely that anyone is being fooled.

There is another reason for pretending that we are not in all-out support of the current Cambodian regime—it is very likely to fall or to be defeated by the combined forces of the North Vietnamese and supporters of Prince Sihanouk. If the United States became committed to the Lon Nol regime as it is to that if somewhat vaguely to President Thieu in Saigon, it would become even more difficult to extricate ourselves from that morass.

But the terminology is bound to lead toward more distrust of official statements from Washington. It is a fact that a number of rubber plantations have been hit hard by agent Orange, a particularly potent defoliant which may deform unborn animals and children. No one seems to know how the defoliant got to Cambodia. Scientists say it couldn't merely have drifted from American defoliant raids in South Vietnam. The United States command flatly says that "no such mission was ever flown by the Air Force." It is doubtful that the South Vietnamese have access to the defoliant or that their limited air force could have conducted such an operation without full knowledge of the United States Command.

So it may be that the defoliation will also be listed as an "ancillary effect."

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 10, 1870.

Gov. Lucius Fairchild has approved the action of the Committee to locate the Insane Asylum at Oshkosh.

By doing so, the Governor stultifies his former action and becomes a party to one of the most notable wrongs ever perpetrated upon the people of Wisconsin.

The acts of Barstow (former governor) and his "ring" pale into utter insignificance when compared with this swindle. Our Governor himself acknowledged, by his first action, that the Oshkosh location was not a suitable place, and did not come within the requirements of the law. Cannot this stupendous fraud be stopped? Let an outraged and swindled people appeal to the Courts for redress.

Recent developments on the high seas point to a crying need for some form of regulation of the exploitation of the ocean. The United States has proposed a comprehensive plan for the orderly development of earth's last great untapped resource.

The American proposal submitted recently to the United Nations would provide that a substantial part of the profit from mineral exploitation under international waters would go to developing nations.

The proposal comes none too soon in light of some recent developments. One is the successful operation of Tenneco, Inc., a pipeline, oil ship building and manufacturing conglomerate. Deepsea Ventures, a subsidiary of Tenneco, sent a converted freighter laden with pipeline about 120 miles east of Charleston, S. C., where the water is about 3,000 feet deep.

Valuable Minerals Found
There, the ship unwound the nine-inch steel pipe until the line reached the bottom of the ocean and then started sucking up what it found. Included in the stream of air, water and matter from the bottom were valuable nodules of ore rich in such minerals as manganese, copper, nickel and cobalt.

The test was the first indication of a big payoff for Tenneco, which has sunk eight years and $15 million into the project. Commercial feasibility is the main factor in any decision to go ahead, of course, and it now seems there is no question of that. But another matter to take into consideration is international law. Under current formulas, nations have legal rights to the seabed only as far as the continental shelf extends from their shores, and the limit of the continental shelf now is defined as not extending past the point at which the water is 650 feet deep. That definition causes great variation in the amount of coastal seabed which each nation can consider its own territory. The ocean off the coasts of some South American countries, for example, drops so quickly to such great depths that these countries have virtually no continental shelf.

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

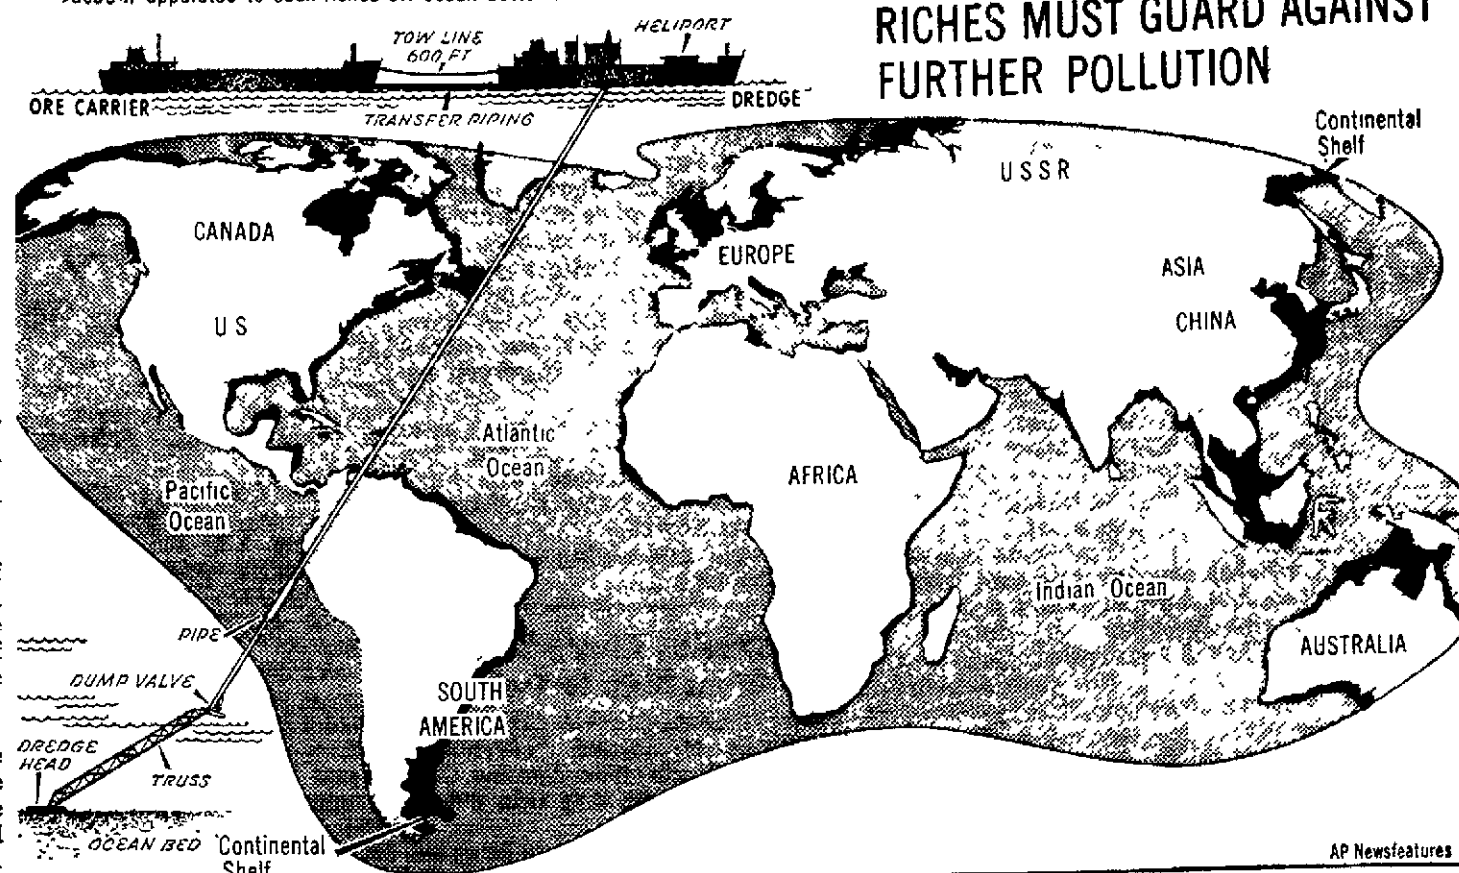

On Saturday, August 8th, about 7:15 a.m. at the intersections of Hwys. 10 and 45, we were involved in quite a serious camper - semi-truck transport accident. For us it meant the end of our vacation which had just begun that morning. It created a lot of firsts for our family. Our first accident in many thousands of miles, our first trip to Appleton, and our first meeting with a lot of wonderful people in your city.

We would like to take this opportunity to extend our heartfelt thanks to all these fine folks in the order that we met them: the gentleman at the supper club who quickly called for help, the Outagamie Sheriff's Dept. who arrived at the scene so promptly (an especially big thanks to Scholtz as the poet Marchbanks; Richard Henkel as the Rev. James Morell, Candida's husband; Mrs. H. W. Harker, the clergyman's secretary.

Champion women softball players in Appleton were Ruth Rathbun, Donna Schmidt, Pat Weycker, Dorothy Spang, Donna Storz, Lois Mahn, Beth Morsen, Bernice Gosz, Shirley Hennessey and Shirley Ulrich. Beth Morsen was captain of the Appleton Coated Paper team.

considered in the United Nations would define the continental shelf by distance from the shore rather than by the depth of the water.

Question of Pollution

The potential of large scale mining operations at sea raises the serious question of further pollution of the ocean, another matter of obvious international concern. If mineral nodules sucked up from the bottom were to be smelted at sea, for instance, a clear but undesirable answer to the question of what to do with the useless slag would be to dump it overboard.

There is a good deal of skepticism around the world regarding American intentions in proposing the regulation of the international seabed. For example, the Times of London recently criticized U. S. plans to dump old nerve gas rockets encased in concrete coffins into the Atlantic Ocean. "Washington proposes the protection of the ocean bed and its development for mankind," the paper said. "The American government might get a better hearing if it set a better example."

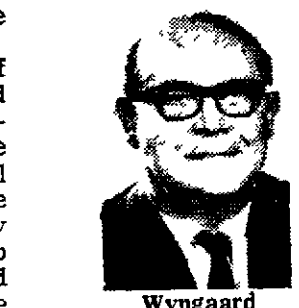

Wisconsin Report

Chances Slim Under-18 Vote Would Alter Election Result

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — A widely published Wisconsin news dispatch in the Wisconsin press recently speculated on the effect of the infusion of thousands of new voters into the Wisconsin electoral population if the proposal for authorizing the vote at age 18 becomes law.

The story employed the significant qualification that such new and young voters "could" alter the results of important Wisconsin election. Of course, they "could." And of course any other homogeneous bloc of voters, resolved to do so, "could." It is one of the essentials for an understanding of Wisconsin political affairs today that gubernatorial elections for a decade and a half have been narrowly resolved, and according to all reasonable probability, will continue to be closely fought.

Won't Vote Alike

Yet the evident implication that the new voters proposed to be enfranchised will vote as a bloc is almost surely erroneous. It is based, in all likelihood, on the disproportionate attention that the militants and the radicals among the young people on the campuses have had during recent years.

But all serious observers have concluded that these represent only a minority. Some of them are so far left that they would likely find little distinction between Republicans and the kind of Democrats likely to be nominated for the chief office in state government.

Young people tend to take on the political coloration of their immediate environment, to reflect the influences of their families, their neighborhoods, their friends, their church and school training, and many other elements contributing to their development.

Any examination of the careers of the principal men in Wisconsin politics today, from Sen. Nelson to Rep. Vernon Thomson, from Gov. Knowles to U. S. District Judge James Doyle of Madison, perhaps the best known Wisconsin magistrate in political reputation, to name some convenient and representative examples, will support the thesis. They were influenced in their most impressionable years by parents, or community forces, or neighborhood tradition and habit, in a way that endured into their active political lives as adults.

Must Consider Past

Any speculation about the probable direction of the votes of younger people, if they are in fact enfranchised, must take into account what has gone before. A useful study recently published on American voting patterns in general contains some illuminating material on the voting habits of the young as they are counted under the present, typical 21 year vote rule.

It may surprise some, and disappoint many, but there is very little evidence that there is a strong demand for the voting entitlement of young people — by those young

No Problem Getting Water to New Plant

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Why must the Appleton homeowner-taxpayer take the back seat again?

I read with interest the article in Tuesday, August 11th Post-Crescent regarding the new plant which plans to locate in the Northeast Industrial Park, which will reprocess waste paper. The amazing thing to me was the fantastic amount of water needed, some 750,000 gallons daily. Every summer Appleton residents are confronted with a water sprinkling ban. If the Appleton water filtration plant does not have the capacity to provide enough water then it is time to voice your objection now before it is too late. I can foresee in two years a complete sprinkling ban and brown lawns in Appleton, if this plant begins operation.

Now regarding the 500,000 gallons of sewage daily that they want to dump directly into storm sewers, thus going directly into the Fox River. I don't know what is meant by "relatively pure" but if they plan to process this waste water, they could certainly be able to recycle this water and utilize it again in plant operations, or do they have a different definition of "pure" than is customary? But if the waste water contains harmful chemicals I'm sure those further down-stream who use Fox River water will be happy to make a "Chemical Toast" while taking their next drink of water, or coffee will find that their tap water is no longer pure H₂O.

With current concern about "mercury" poisoning of certain rivers, I understand the U. S. Public Health Service has a report which will be released soon regarding other pollutants of our water, such as lead, zinc, copper, nitrates, etc. from industrial plants. Do present methods of water purification remove these inorganic and organic people. In 1968, according to the study noted, only 51 per cent of the Americans aged 21-24 actually voted which was a lower ratio than shown in any age bracket of their elders.

The authors emphasized, however, that one of every six voters in the country is under 30 years of age, a fact that could be vitally important in all elections "if young people voted monolithically."

Cite Last Election

"Some groups in American political life do. Young people don't," these academicians declared flatly on the basis of their extensive and respected studies.

They cite another example from a respected poll taken on the eve of the last presidential election, when young people were universally regarded as liberal, college-educated, dovish, pro-Kennedy and pro-McCarthy intellectuals, as these investigators recalled. That poll showed, however, that the young voters were more hawkish than the over 50 generation. Assumptions in this field are risky.

pollutants such as DDT, from our drinking water?

Robert F. Steger

1305 North Division St. Appleton

Editor's Note: The capacity of the Appleton water treatment plant will be increased from 12 million gallons daily to 23 million when the Winnebago pipeline-plant expansion project is completed later this year. The demand for an additional 750,000 gallons per day would not tax the new system, since average daily consumption is projected at 15 million gallons daily.

Public Works Director Robert Miller says the question about the plant recycling its waste water also occurred to him and he plans to question the company about that possibility, as well as to the effectiveness of its proposed treatment process.

The state is currently concerned about better methods of monitoring public water supplies to check for mercury and other inorganic pollutants.

'Blue Monday' Is

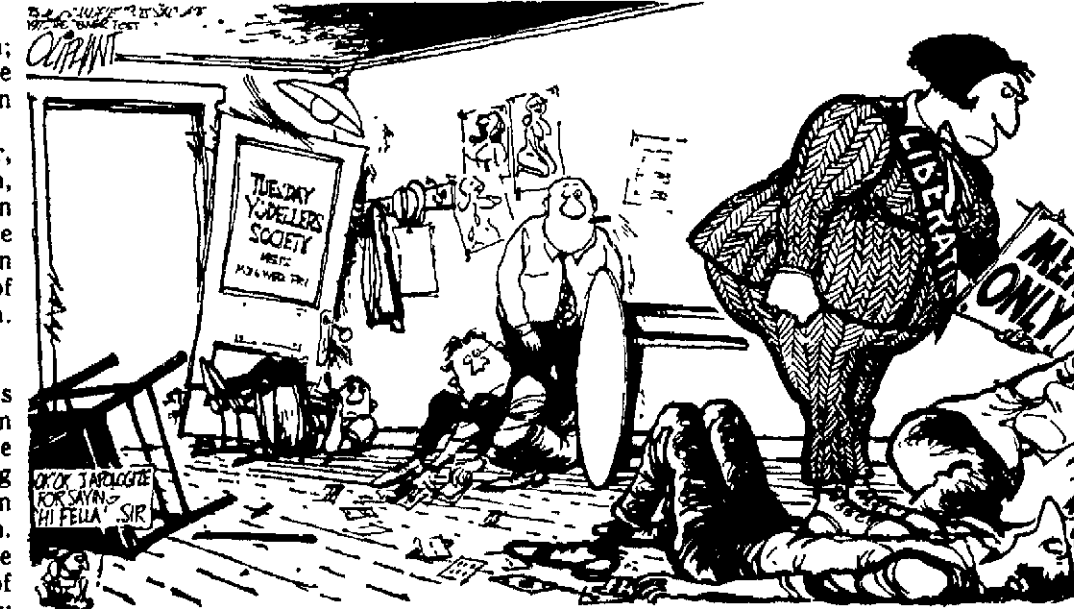

No Day for Tests

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Researchers at the Human Sciences Laboratory here have decided not to do comparative tests on Mondays. The tests are designed to evaluate the effects of certain conditions on humans.

Commenting on the "Blue Monday" effect, Dr. N.B. Nolte, deputy director of the lab, says, "The subjects we use in the comparative tests are never quite up to it on that day. We cannot understand why, although it may be that they are still suffering from the physiological effects of the weekend."

"After all, don't we all feel bad on Monday mornings?" asks Nolte.

Do Not Use Aspirin In Canning at Home

By George C. Thosteson, M.S.

While home canning isn't as common as it used to be, a great many people still do it, and a question a little while ago dealt with the practice of using an aspirin tablet as a preservative.

My reply was that I couldn't see any particular danger from an aspirin tablet in a quart of fruit, but I think now that I answered a little too quickly.

There are some good reasons

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Are the IUD contraceptives easily inserted? How long can they be left in? Are there any side effects? — Mrs. C.S.

The IUDs (or "loops" or "spirals") have to be inserted by a physician but it is not a difficult procedure. In some cases they can be left indefinitely, but should be checked at six-month intervals by the doctor to see that they remain in proper position and are not causing irritation.

For some women, there are no side effects; others experience irritation and bleeding and have to stop their use. They can be expelled, or pushed out of position, without the woman being aware of it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Whenever I eat dried apricots with sulphur dioxide preservative, I always choke and find it hard to breathe for a while. Does this happen to everyone or just me? I am asthmatic — G.T.

No, it doesn't happen to everyone. Since you are asthmatic, it is probable that you are oversensitive to certain things (have some allergies), and this particular preservative may be one of them.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I understood that gout was a foot problem. Does it occur in elbows, knees, or other places? — E.K.

Yes, it can, because gout is not a foot problem. About three quarters of the first painful attacks happen to afflict the big toe, but the disease affects your whole system and can cause pain in any joint.

Troubled with gout? To learn of new treatment for this cruel and painful disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Post-Crescent for a copy of the booklet, "Gout — The Modern Way To Stop It." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Winneconne Enrollment Over 1,700

Record Number to Attend Schools in District on Aug. 31

WINNECONNE — A record 1,700 students will be enrolled in Winneconne community schools when classes begin Aug. 31. This is 60 over the beginning enrollment last year.

Winneconne elementary pupils will have classes from 8:30 a.m. to 3:35 p.m. with one hour lunch periods. Winchester pupils will be in class from 8:25 a.m. to 3:10 p.m. They will have 40 minute lunch breaks. Kindergarten classes will be conducted at Winchester in both morning and afternoon sessions.

Classes at Winneconne middle school and high school will run from 8:30 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. with 40 minute lunch periods. Class periods will be shortened the first day for registration.

New Teachers

Eleven new teachers will report for orientation Wednesday. All faculty members will meet for a two-day in-service workshop Aug. 27 and 28. New teachers include Joseph O'Leary, high school guidance; Susan Davies, high school and middle school Spanish; Carol Powers, seventh grade English and reading; Cheryl Pommerening, kindergarten, Winchester; Janet Daggett, grade one; Cheryl Koepke, fourth grade, Winchester; Patricia Kramer, fifth grade; Faith Fell, fifth grade; Virginia Brown, elementary art; Sonja Gravenstein, music, Winchester and Karen Payne, third grade.

Hot lunch tickets will be sold the first day and will cost $1.60. For students in grades one through eight and $1.70 for high school students. Adults will pay $1.75. Single tickets for students will be 50 cents and 75 cents for adults.

Book Rentals

Text book rental fees will be $2 for students in grades one through six and $7 for grades seven through 12. Kindergarten pupils should bring $1 for scissors and crayons.

Student season tickets for all home athletic games, excluding tournaments, will cost $4 and are available at the general office.

Transfer students must have previous school records in order that proper guidance can be given in grade and class placement. Those who will attend grades six through 12 for the first time should see Joseph O'Leary or Fred Gierke, guidance counselors, and those attending kindergarten through grades five should see John Ruekauf, elementary principal. Parents may also call the school.

A third grade class taught by Helen Ely will be held in the Presbyterian church, in addition to the middle school mathematics classes which will continue to meet in St. Mary Catholic church hall.

The school system is in the process of compiling a substitute teacher list and qualified persons, interested in substitute teaching, are asked to contact the central school office.

The Tall and Short of horsemanship, along with a few unorthodox ways of mounting a horse, were demonstrated at the Winnebago County Fair Friday. The five-day run at the fairgrounds near Oshkosh ends Sunday. The featured attractions of this year's fair, Buck Owens and the stars of Hee-Haw, go on stage tonight for two performances. Stock car racing Sunday night will close out the 1970 fair. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Woman Hurt Critically in 2-Car Crash

OSHKOSH — Mrs. Rufin Skiba, 46, 509 Isabella St., Neenah, wife of the prominent Twin Cities labor leader, was critically injured Friday at 4 p.m. in a two car crash on U.S. 41 three miles south of Neenah.

Three passengers were treated at Mercy Medical Center following the accident.

According to Winnebago County police the accident occurred as the Skiba auto was traveling north on 41.

A car driven by Glen M. Charles, 26, 202 N. Franklin Ave., Madison, was also traveling north on 41 when it hit the Skiba car in the left rear fender causing it to roll over. The Charles vehicle also left the road and rolled over.

The injured are Mrs. Skiba, with critical injuries to her head and internal injuries; Deborah L. Skiba, 11, 509 Isabella, Neenah, with scrapes; Darlene J. Skiba, 14, same address, with cuts and scrapes and Cynthia A. Miller, 13, 304 Torrey, Neenah, with cuts to both knees and elbows.

Both cars were totally demolished.

FVTI Commencement 36 Practical Nurses Get Diplomas Sunday

NEENAH — Rep. William Steiger, R-Oshkosh, will give the address at the 40th commencement of the practical nursing program of the Fox Valley Technical Institute at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Neenah High School.

Diplomas will be presented to the 36 graduates by Harland Kirchner, president of the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education District 12 (VTE-12) board. He will be assisted by Dominic Bordini, head of research and planning.

Mrs. Gertrude D. Neuman, RN, instructional services supervisor of health occupations for the district, and Miss Shirley Johnson, LPN, president of the alumnae association, will present the roses and pins.

The class will be presented by William Sirek, VTE-12 director. The Rev. Wayne Rydberg, Town of Menasha, will give the invocation and benediction. Miss Shirley Birling will respond for the graduates after the presentation of diplomas.

Members of the class are Dorothy A. Borsche, Patricia F. Colson, Marie C. Heinritz, Susan M. Kessel, Maxine H. Kettenhofen, Karen L. Peil, Darlene M. Siebers, all of Appleton; Shirley M. Birling, Pamela J. Weeks, Joanne M. Zastrow, Menasha; Kathleen J. Fischer, Christine A. Vick, Joanna N. Wismer, Neenah;

Shirley J. Barthels, Kathleen Britz, Kathleen G. Diehl, Ellen L. Dodge, Kathleen Laurent, Kristine A. Schulz, Sandra J. Skafte, Maureen S. Stieg, Carla J. Stiller, Catherine J. Storch, Sandra M. Troxell, Juanita Nordness, Oshkosh;

Patricia A. Lennon, Judith E. Stecker, Kaukauna; Carol M. Boucher, Winneconne; Cheryl A. Fischer, Brillion; Cynda L. Krenke, Fremont; Pamela R. Schroeder, Seymour; Darlene E. Seipel, Chilton; Joan L. Farrell, New London; Florence O. Tate, Hortonville; Susan A. Terry, Fond du Lac; and Paula R. Van Sambeek, Kimberly.

Stereo Equipment, Worth $600, Stolen From MHS Band Room

MENASHA — Stereo sound equipment valued at $600 was stolen from the band room at Menasha High School sometime after Aug. 1.

School officials discovered Friday the theft of a $100 Garrard turntable, two Jensen 150 speakers valued at $125 each, and a Scott 260 amplifier valued at $250.

2 Youths Hurt in Bicycle Mishap

NEENAH — Michael Geiger, 13, Hunters Point Road, suffered a broken shoulder in a freak bicycle accident about 11:30 a.m. Wednesday at 205 Villa Drive.

Michael, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Geiger, was riding double on a bicycle with his 10-year-old brother, John Jr., when one of the boys caught a foot in the spokes, causing a spill.

Neenah Firemen said, John suffered a cut under his chin. Both boys were taken to Theda Clark Hospital by ambulance.

That school will cost $7.25 million to build.

After the grants, State vocational director Clarence Greiber told the board that a district's ability to pay for its own school construction will be considered in making grants, which Friday ranged up to 40 per cent for some projects.

In other business the board also agreed to give Greiber power to pull the state agency out of cooperative workings with the Opportunities Industrialization Center in Milwaukee.

The center is a job-skills training program, which has been plagued with on-going administrative in-fighting and budgetary problems. Noll, previously a supporter of the program, said that he has been "disillusioned" by the administration of the program.

Pre-School Education Program Scheduled for Neenah Staffers

NEENAH — The pre-school in-service educational program for staff members of the Neenah Joint School District will be held Tuesday through Friday, Supt. Donald Scott has announced.

One of the featured events will be an address on Wednesday morning by Donald O. Clifton, president of Selection Research Inc., Lincoln, Neb.

New Teachers

New teachers will report on Tuesday at 9:30 a.m. for a tour of a Kimberly-Clark Corp. paper mill. Following this will be a picnic at 11:30 p.m. for new staff members, board of education members, department chairmen and administrators, at Riverside Park.

Supt. Donald Scott will give a welcome at 1 p.m. at the administration building, followed by a report on insurance and office business by James Clark, business manager.

Wednesday's agenda calls for all teachers to assemble at 8 a.m. in the Neenah High School auditorium. An invocation will be given by the Rev. Erling Carlsen, pastor of Gloria Dei Lutheran Church, Neenah.

Mrs. Marjorie Buchanan, president of the board of education, and Neenah Mayor Roman Hauser will give welcomes.

Staff Report

Scott will give a report to the staff.

Clifton will then deliver a talk on "How to Make a Difference in the Seventies."

Following a coffee break will be meetings in various school buildings as scheduled by the principals. From 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. the special area teachers will meet with elementary schools coordinator Richard Luft in the administrative building.

The reading teachers and the speech correctionists will meet at 10:30 a.m. in Mary Willits' office, also in the administrative building.

Special Education

During Wednesday afternoon, from 2 to 4 p.m., the special education teachers will meet with Miss Willits, the library and audio visual people in the instructional materials center at the administration building, kindergarten through 12th grade department leaders at Neenah High, and new teachers and grade level transfers will meet with professional helpers.

Meeting at the same time will be kindergarten teachers at Tullar School; second grade at Clayton, first, third and fourth grades at Spring Road, fifth at Wilson and sixth at Lakeview.

'Interest Sectionals'

Thursday morning will be several "interest sectionals" including: "Kids, All Yours," by Dennis Kral of the Winnebago

State Hospital; "Athletic injuries," by Dr. Glenn Gustafson; "Students and Drugs," by Dick Gunther of the District Attorney's office; "Looking at Children," Mary Ann Werner, Neenah city nurse; "Primary Reading Paces," John Hovle, Taft principal; "Safety Education," Donald Gehrman, Department of Public Instruction; "Sullivan Programmed Reading," James R. Schuett, McGraw Hill, and "Intermediate Language Arts Paces," Ted Jarosh, Lakeview principal.

On Thursday the staff members will work with principals. A breakfast for new teachers will be held at 7 a.m. Friday at the Holiday Inn. Throughout the day teachers will again be working with principals.

$100 Tent Stolen

MENASHA — A large tent valued at more than $100 and two sleeping bags and two blankets valued at $40 were taken from the back yard of the Tom Wainscott home at 713 Keyes St. Friday.

Foundry To Install Stack Afterburners

NEENAH — Neenah Foundry Co. will install afterburners to the smokestack cupolas of plants 2 and 3 to cut down the heavy smoke and gases which have drawn past complaints from neighbors and aldermen.

The afterburners, which will burn off particles and gases to reduce noxious emissions, will begin operating in early September, foundry officials said.

A shroud was recently installed at the top of the cupola at plant 3 and is expected to further increase the efficiency of air pollution controls, officials added.

Dust Collectors

The company is also undertaking a program of internal environmental control. Two dust collectors, which will clean and filter air drawn from inside the building and recirculate the clean air at the rate of 100,000 cubic feet a minute, will begin operating this fall in plant 3.

Foundry President E. W. Aylward said the company has spent $2 million in the last five years on both internal and external environmental improvement.

"Present plans call for installation of more sophisticated equipment that will require an additional expense in excess of $2 million, which will enable us to exceed, not just meet, the (state) code," Aylward said.

3-Year Plan

Aylward said the firm's program would be compiled in July of 1971 for plant 1, 1972 for plant 2, and 1973 for plant 3.

The firm's efforts at pollution control date back to 1952, when it added the first of four smoke washer devices which filter out most of the solid particles in the smoke, Aylward noted.

A Shroud Was Recently installed at the top of the cupola of Neenah Foundry Company's plant 3. This extension, operating in conjunction with new afterburners and a smoke washer, is expected to substantially improve the control of emissions, according to company officials.

Swan Song for Nine-Time Champion Holstein

OSHKOSH — "Lori," a holstein cow owned by Miss Ann Weber, route 1, Neenah, is making her last appearance at the Winnebago County Fair.

Miss Weber, now 19 years old and a student at Oshkosh State University, is a graduating 4-H member and will be ineligible to enter "Lori" in 4-H competition after this year.

The holstein was a calf when Miss Weber first showed her at the fair nine years ago. Always a winner, the cow captured several blue ribbons for appearance and showmanship during her first years of showing.

"Lori" was a second place winner for five consecutive years, took third place honors last year and concluded her fair history with a gallant fourth place in competition Wednesday.

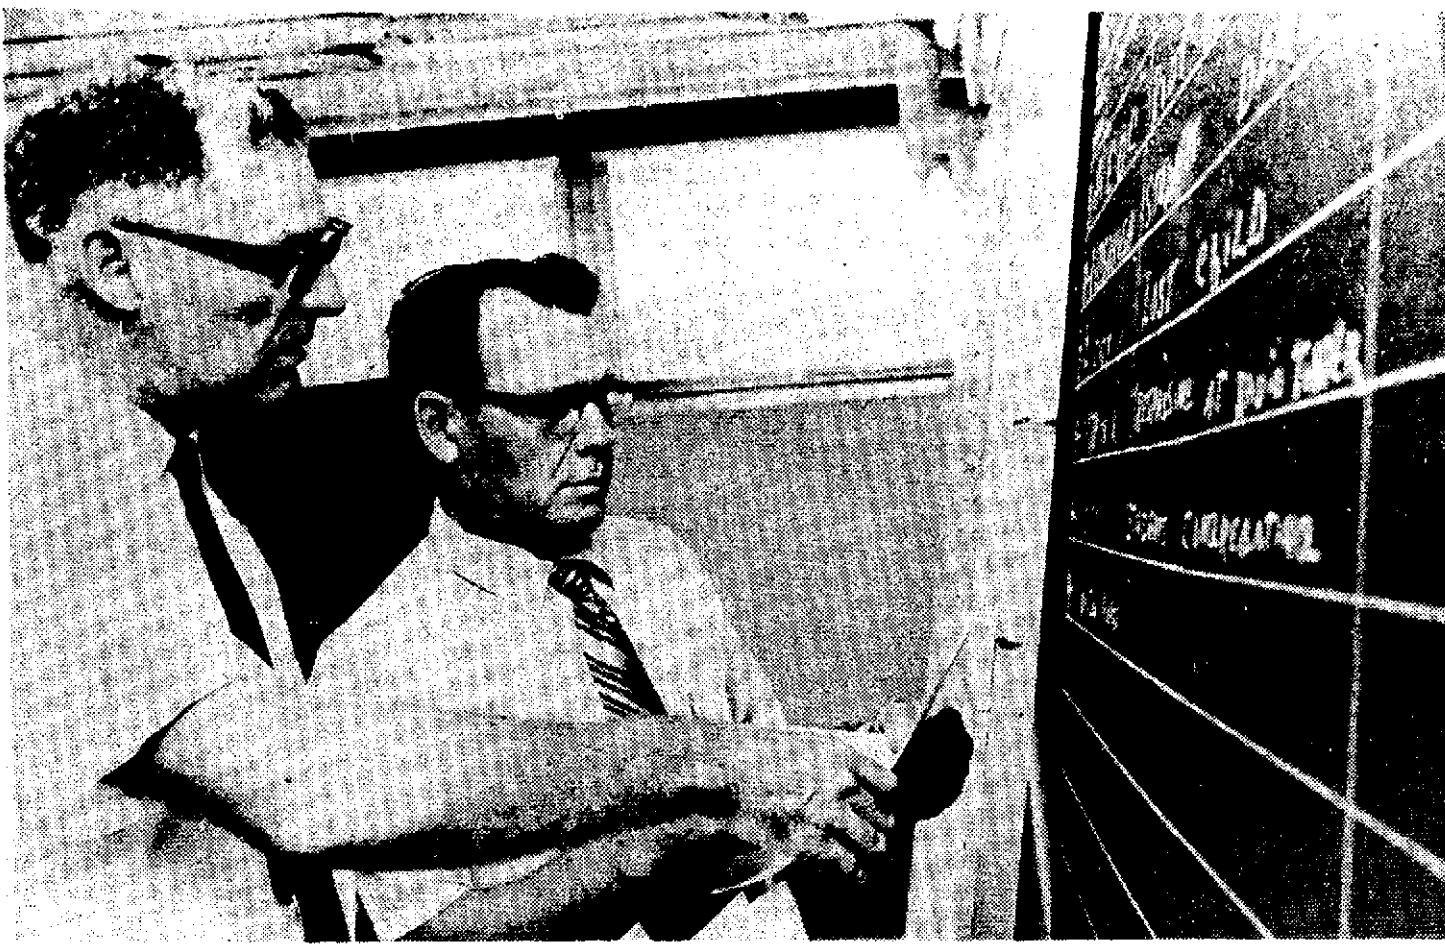

"It is the last, final and forever time she'll be shown," said Miss Weber with a catch in her voice.

It won't be the last fair for Miss Weber, however, who plans to continue to attend future fairs as an assistant and adult 4-H leader.

"Lori," a Cow owned by Miss Ann Weber, Neenah, a graduating member of Mears 4-H club, is making her final visit to the Winnebago County Fair this year. "Lori" has been shown at the fair by Miss Weber since the 4-H member was 10 years old. The holstein has collected first, second, third and fourth place ribbons in her history of showing. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Focusing Their Attention on the "major emergency log," Lawrence DeGroot, left, deputy director of Outagamie County Emergency Government, and Alfred Krause pinpoint trouble spots for all to see. The activity was part of a training exercise being held in the Courthouse Annex Thursday afternoon under the direction of Emergency Government Director Howard Rathbun. Rathbun said that the exercise was helpful in determining areas where improvement is needed and that he hopes to hold more of them. Eventually, he says, he hopes to organize a citywide alert with residents involved. The Civil Defense University Education Program from Stevens Point University, under the direction of Don Heimlich, helped to coordinate Thursday's program. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Attorney General Speaks to CESA

'Police Won't Solve Drug Problem'

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

State Atty. Gen. Robert W. Warren, luncheon speaker at an inservice education seminar sponsored by Cooperative Educational Service Agency (CESA) 8, told the educators they have a responsibility to "convince the young people of the dangers of mind-altering drugs."

Milwaukee County Dist. Atty. E. Michael McCann issued the same educators the same challenge Thursday. The week-long CESA session, which attracted educators from 16 school districts, ended Friday.

Warren admonished the educators, when dealing with the drug problem, to "be knowledgeable" and "be honest."

Complex Subject

He told them the field of drug abuse is constantly changing.

The subject, Warren said, is a complex one.

Warren also briefed the educators on what the state has done in attempts to control drug abuse and what remains to be done.

"The state is just getting its feet wet," he explained. "We better learn to solve (the drug problem) or we'll have a nation of non-productive young people."

Warren praised the last session of the State Legislature for what he saw as a "responsive and responsible" approach to the drug fight.

He reviewed some of the recent legislation, including changes in the states narcotic and dangerous drug laws which made marijuana possession a misdemeanor crime.

The legislation "cleared up some of the hangups in the laws," Warren noted.

Trip Sought to Inspect Firm

The Appleton public works director may go to California to try to clear up questions about a paper reclaiming firm that wants to build a plant in the North East Industrial Park.

The Appleton area Chamber of Commerce Friday sent an offer to city hall to pay half the cost of sending Public Works Director Robert Miller to California to inspect a plant operated by B. J. Fibres, Inc., headquartered in Augusta, Ga.

Mayor George Buckley said he favors the trip as long as there are funds for the city's half of the cost in the public works budget.

Thompson (13th), waste cartons put through the reclaiming process leave behind wax and plastic that are difficult to remove from sewage discharged by the plant.

Two outstanding factors recognized by those dealing with the drug problem in Wisconsin, Warren said, are the speed with which it moved in and the lack of solid, statistical information relating to it.

Explaining that the Department of Justice is hiring 21 more undercover narcotics agents, Warren said his office now has 200 requests for help from such agents. Many of the requests cannot be fulfilled.

The agents, he said, aim their efforts primarily toward the narcotics "pushers and traffickers."

Water Rate Increase Hearing Set

A hearing before the Public Service Commission has been scheduled for Sept. 14 on an Appleton Water Department request for a permanent water rate increase.

The PSC granted the department permission a year ago to add a 5 per cent surcharge to its existing rate schedule, as an interim measure while the Lake Winnebago Pipeline and treatment plant expansion projects were being completed.

The water department asked on Aug. 11 for a hearing on setting a permanent rate increase, since the new facilities are nearly complete and ready to go into operation.

The water department recently issued its six-month financial report which showed the utility was operating more than $14,000 in the red for the first half of this year, and if it weren't for construction funds drawing interest until contractors' bills come in, the deficit would have been nearly $40,000.

Safety Building Panel Will Buy Parking Space

First Step to Prove County's 'Sincerity' in Long Standing Plan

The Outagamie County Safety Building Committee hopes to have at least 36 offstreet parking spaces by this winter, it indicated Friday afternoon.

The group earlier this week hired the real estate firm of Long-Wieckert & Karel to seek options on properties near the courthouse.

The first purchase, a lot on the southwest corner of Walnut and Sixth streets, should create an "atmosphere in the neighborhood that the county is sincere" in its efforts to get the safety building project moving, said Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna.

Providing parking and hiring an architect are the two immediate tasks of the special committee.

Members moved closer toward contracting with Sauter Seaborn Architects, Ltd., Appleton, in an evening informational session with the firm for new members to familiarize themselves with the plans.

It was still in doubt at the committee's afternoon meeting whether Sauter Seaborn was still retained from the recent jail building project which had to be dumped.

George Narovec and Associates architects, Appleton, also prepared a jail plan. Its contract was terminated this week as the county paid up its $3,540 share of the design project initiated by the joint city-county safety building committee, now defunct.

DeLaHunt stressed the need for the committee to keep up a sense of urgency on the structure. He said it "would be too bad if we missed next year's building season" if the preliminary work — up to bid letting — were not completed before next spring.

The committee will ask the City Council for a permit to raze the house on the corner of Walnut and Sixth and construct parking facilities.

Supv. Jerome Hiler, Appleton, chairman of the new group, said he is confronted daily by taxpayers who demand, "When are you going to do something? When are you going to do something? It isn't hurrying on this," he said, "when this has been going on since 1958."

A State Pilot program for people who will work as assistants to professional school health officials, came to a successful conclusion this week when seven students completed the aides program offered by Fox Valley Technical Institute.

Oneida Bridge Project Gets Top Priority Rating

Planning Team's Verdict Asked to Break Logjam

A planning and engineering team has given the Oneida Street high-level bridge project top priority among three bridge-building proposals in the city, and Mayor George Buckley has given the report his immediate backing.

The report, written in an effort to break the logjam over choosing a bridge project to ask state financial help in building in the 1971-73 budget year, also recommends early efforts at coordinating Tri-County Expressway preparations with state highway officials.

The City Council's Streets and Sanitation Committee will take up the bridge question Aug. 31, with the report expected to be the basis for discussion.

The committee asked for the expert recommendations last week.

City and regional officials are hoping to come up with a unified proposal to the State Highway Commission, which is to hold hearings Sept. 9 on Memorial Drive and Oneida Street bridge proposals.

The report comes from members of the staff of the Appleton Public Works Department, Fox Valley Council of Government (COG) and city Planning and Development Department.

Goos Along

They met Thursday and submitted their recommendations Friday to Buckley, who announced after reading the report, "I have to go along with the professionals."

The mayor previously had been unsuccessful in seeking support for placing the Memorial Drive Bridge replacement project at the top of the city's three-bridge list. But he also has stated he would accept whatever recommendation the engineers and planners endorsed.

The report, addressed to Buckley and recommended for distribution to the city's 20 aldermen and various other interested groups and individuals, notes that six bridges are proposed in the COG Tri-County Expressway plan between Menasha and Kimberly.

Of those, three are in the City, including Memorial Drive, Oneida Street and French Road, the report notes, stating that the study team recommends top priority for the Oneida Street bridge because it would give the greatest immediate benefits.

A key point in leading the study team to its conclusion, according to Public Works Director Robert Miller who wrote the report is the assumption that one bridge will be built in the near future across Little Lake Butte des Morts.

That bridge, most likely located at Ninth Street just north of Menasha, would relieve some traffic on existing Appleton bridges, making it possible to live with the Memorial Drive span in its present condition for some years longer, the study group concluded.

Since all six bridges are part of a single expressway system, the group also recommends that a more detailed expressway plan including funding and sources should be drawn up.

The study team recommends that the City Council request immediate action by COG to develop the expressway plan, coordinating it with state highway officials.

The State Transportation Board recently encouraged more work on the expressway offering to discuss jurisdictional assignments which would list portions of the expressway financed by county, local community and state sources.

Priority Change

Miller said one reason for choosing Oneida Street rather than Memorial Drive for top priority was that, with a bridge expected to be built soon at Ninth Street and another proposed for the future near Stroebe Island — the so-called North Bridge — it was feared that replacing the Memorial span immediately might mean it was "over built" when the other elements in the valley river crossing system are installed.

An unspoken consideration in lowering the Memorial Drive priority is that considerable opposition is known to exist among residents of the area. Local officials have warned that if strong objections are voiced at the state bridge hearings, it could cost the city its state bridge funds.

Miller said that if referendums scheduled this fall in the City and Town of Menasha turn down local shares of funds to build the Ninth Street span, it is assumed the decision would hasten the building of the North Bridge, and the Appleton traffic situation still would be eased. A projection several years old estimated 14 per cent of Oneida and Memorial bridge traffic would use a Ninth Street crossing instead.

The six bridges in the COG expressway system are at Ninth Street, the North Bridge, Memorial Drive, Oneida Street, French Road, and State 55, Kaukauna.

Of these, Buckley said the report "didn't mention the North Bridge which I regard as Number One priority." The mayor added, "Of those within the city, I would go along with the Oneida Street high level bridge."

1 Major Street Project Left To Complete

Newberry Finished Friday; Washington Needs 1 More Block

Contractors are pushing to wind up the last major street reconstruction project on this year's public works timetable, after putting the finishing touches to Newberry street, the other big job of the season, late Friday afternoon.

City Engineer Thomas Harp said workmen swept up the litter and took down the barricades to open Newberry to Appleton-Kimberly traffic, while across town concrete pouring was past the halfway mark on the second lane of Washington Street.

The Newberry project, which began early this summer, winds up the season's street improvements on the South Side.

The Washington Street project, which is putting concrete surface from Division to Durkee Street was within a block of completion Friday afternoon.

Next week, Harp said the second lane will be paved between Superior and Division streets, and paving will start on intersections.

Harp outlined progress in the rest of the construction program and plans for next week as follows:

Kernan Street, Calumet to Taft, and Greenview Street, Taft to Sylvan Drive, completed and open to traffic.

North side streets to be completed during next several weeks:

Alton Street, Lawe to Rankin. Commercial Street, Lynnwood to west city limits. Winnebago Street, Lynnwood to west city limits. Sharon Street, Winnebago to Spring. Browning Street, Locust to Whittier. Whittier Drive, Locust to cul de sac.

Contractors will work on all stages of these streets in rotation. Browning Street project, Harp said, will be finished before Whittier Drive work begins.

Asphalt paving and utility projects are done for the summer. Patching of existing blacktop for top streets is continuing northcrimes, and crimes applying of Wisconsin Avenue, and will only to men including rape and

Women's Equality Law Wipes Out Protections: Byrnes

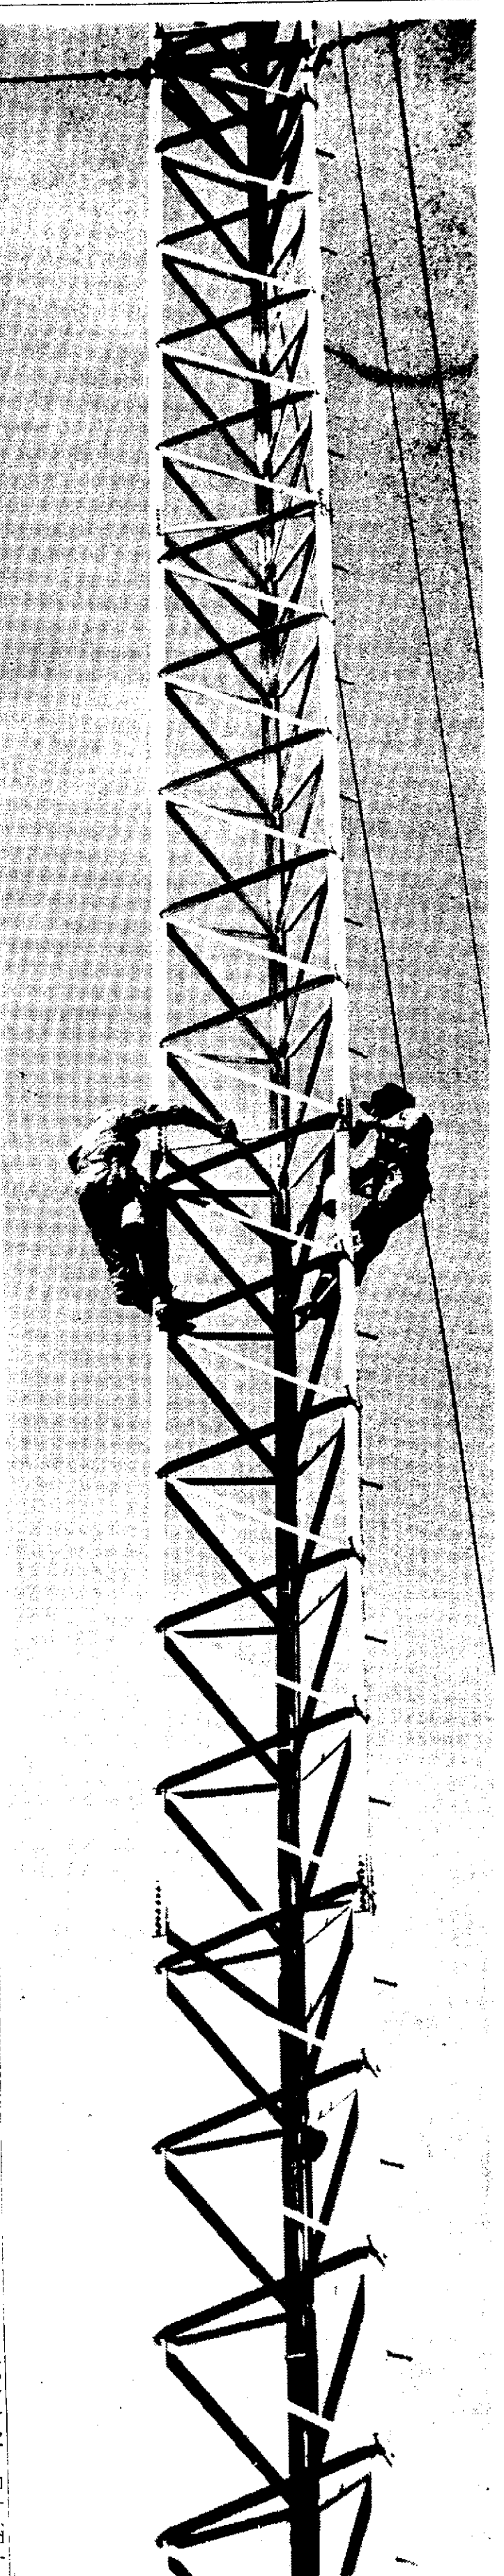

WASHINGTON — The proposed Constitutional amendment applying only to men, such as criminal rape statutes, unconstitutional, according to Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Green Bay.

In a news letter to constituents explaining why he was one of only 15 congressmen opposing the measure, Byrnes called it "a meat-ax constitutional amendment which would wipe out state and federal laws protecting women's rights as workers, mothers, wives and widows."

The amendment would make unconstitutional any law that differentiates between men and women, Byrnes said, and would rule out any such future law.

Byrnes said he is "strongly in favor of removing any discrimination against women" that may exist in present laws. But he opposes "removing every protection we have built into our laws for women in recognition of their crucial and unique role in a society based on the family," as he said the amendment would do.

As examples of what the amendment would do, Byrnes listed requiring women to submit to the draft and serve in combat zones, wipe out laws relating to employment of women, "many of them fought hard for by women," make drastic changes in divorce laws, and affect criminal laws that distinguish between sexes, such as those applying to age of responsibility, penalties for crimes, and crimes applying of Wisconsin Avenue, and will only to men including rape and
